Fines Ordered For 'Invaders'

Must Pay $107 Each or Spend Month in Jail

Hudson, Wis. — Sixteen youthful members of a large Minnesota "revenge" caravan were told Friday night to pay fines and costs of $107.80 each, or spend 30 days in jail. Six remained in jail.

The fines were levied by Judge Thomas O'Brien in St. Croix county court after the chastened youths, aged 18 to 20, pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct.

They, and others of their number, had been held in jail since Sheriff Norman Anderson, 25 deputies and city police Thursday night rounded up 62 youths from the nearby St. Paul area who had converged at a parking lot near the city limits to take revenge for what they called an affront to one of their group.

Police Take Weapons

Anderson said that as members of the state traffic patrol stood by, the gang was relieved of knives, firearms, wrenches, BB guns and other weapons. Although an undetermined number of invaders, escaped, 13 cars with Minnesota plates still remained at the rendezvous.

Fifty — one of the visitors were taken to jail for overnight stays here or at Ellsworth. Eleven youths were released Thursday night.

The sheriff said all but 16 were released Friday to their parents for recall and action by juvenile authorities.

According to Anderson, Hudson youngsters apparently had not mobilized and there was little resistance. He quoted some of the invaders as saying a 17-year-old member had been beaten up here Tuesday night and wanted revenge.

Ike Broadens Plans For W. Europe Trip

Proposes to See Italian Premier and NATO Officials

Washington — President Eisenhower today broadened plans for his trip to western Europe to include talks with Italian Prime Minister Antonio Segni and two top officials of NATO.

Separate meetings with the NATO officials and the Italian prime minister will take place in Paris after Eisenhower has ended conferences with French President Charles de Gaulle.

It was announced yesterday that Eisenhower will go to London Aug. 28 for talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and then to Paris Sept. 2 for the meeting with De Gaulle.

Segni To Visit U.S.

White House Press Sec. James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower will confer with Joseph M. A. H. Luns, Netherlands minister of foreign affairs and president of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council, and with Paul.

Evacuees Return Home After Tank Is Emptied

Iowa Park, Texas — More than 100 persons, evacuated from a 15-block area when deadly anhydrous ammonia fumes filled the area, returned to their homes today after workmen drained a leaking 6,000-gallon tank.

Police Chief Ross Chapman said the alert was cancelled at 3:30 a.m. when a team of firemen, civil defense and chemical workers attached a line to the tank and pumped the heavy liquefied gas into a second tank nearby.

Two men reportedly suffered slight burns from the gas, which has an effect on the skin comparable to frostbite.

Winds Help Town

Access to the tank came after firemen poured water on the area for hours to dilute the gas. Earlier estimates had said it would be late today before the ammonia would be dispelled enough to allow workmen to reach the tank.

Gas masks were ineffective against the concentrated gas. Police ordered the 15-block area near the tank cleared and alerted the rest of this north Texas town of 4,000 for possible evacuation.

The full-scale evacuation never came off, authorities said, because light north winds carried the fumes away from the tank on the south side of town.

The leak was blamed on a high-pressure gauge which blew out about 6 p.m.

The tank adjoins the plant of the New Ice company of nearby Wichita, Falls, Texas. An official of the ice firm said the tank was filled Thursday. Police said they were unable to learn immediately who owns the tank.

Firemen from Wichita Falls, Sheppard Air Force base and Iowa Park poured water on the area to disperse concentrations of the gas and dilute it to make it less dangerous.

Anhydrous ammonia is used as a fertilizer. It is not inflammable but is highly toxic when concentrated.

Explorer VI Orbits, Collects Data Vital To Space Conquest

Travels 25,950 Miles From Earth at Its Highest Point

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — Paddle-wheeled Explorer VI, the most advanced American satellite, orbited in a wide sweep around the earth today and collected scientific data that may ease man's way into space.

The spheroid, sporting four paddle vanes trying to catch energy from the sun, was launched yesterday at the missile test center here. A Thor-Able rocket, 90 feet long and in three stages, sent it aloft.

Soaring 25,950 miles from earth at its highest point and coming 152 miles above earth at its lowest, the satellite had the longest orbit of the six artificial moons now in space. It also takes six times as long as any other satellite to make a trip around the earth—121 hours.

Packed in the 142-pound satellite was the most comprehensive scientific package ever orbited by the United States, enough instruments to perform 15 experiments.

Seeks Vital Data

The national astronautics and space administration in Washington, getting reports on signals transmitted by the satellite on 108.06 and 108.09 megacycles and on an undisclosed high frequency, reported that every instrument tested was working perfectly.

Scientists expect Explorer VI to orbit for more than a year. Four of the other present artificial moons are American. The sixth is Russia's Sputnik III.

Moscow radio told the Soviet people last night about the successful launching by carrying an official announcement from Washington without comment.

Police Curb Race Tension

Remain Alert in Chicago Area for New Outbreak

Chicago — Sixty uniformed policemen ranged through a quiet residential neighborhood on the west side today alert for new rumblings of race tension which erupted from rock-throwing crowds earlier in the week.

Lt. Michael Nolan, in charge of the special police detail, said the all-white residential area was peaceful and there had been no reports of tension since Thursday night.

Some 3,000 persons milled around the area Thursday night, throwing rocks and stones and an occasional bottle at policemen. About 1,500 persons thronged around the 4300 block on Washington boulevard Wednesday night.

During the two nights, 16 men were arrested. They were charged with disorderly conduct and failure to disperse.

Police said crowds gathered when it was learned that a 3-story apartment building was purchased last week by Josh Hargraves, 38, a Negro, made the discovery shortly before noon yesterday. Officers said her husband had been dead several hours.

The couple separated after returning to Sarasota from Gainesville two weeks ago, where Steffens was a student building Monday.

Field workers from the city's commission on human relations yesterday asked religious and civic leaders to use their influence in helping to control crowd gatherings in the neighborhood.

Detectives Hunt Clues in Florida Murder Mystery

Sarasota, Fla. — Detectives investigating the killing of a young man found bound and gagged with his face taped like a mummy hoped an autopsy report today would lead them to a murderer.

The blonde wife of Chandler Steffens discovered his body on a floor in the bedroom of his father's home. Steffens, 22, was clad only in shorts. His throat had been slashed from ear to ear.

Detectives found no motive, no clues to the killer and no murder weapon, Police Chief Robert M. Wilson said.

Wilson said the victim's entire face was taped except for small holes around the nose, eyes and mouth. A tape gag covered the lips.

Mrs. Betty Steffens, 20, made the discovery shortly before noon yesterday. Officers said her husband had been dead several hours.

The couple separated after returning to Sarasota from Gainesville two weeks ago, where Steffens was a student building Monday.

Field workers from the city's commission on human relations yesterday asked religious and civic leaders to use their influence in helping to control crowd gatherings in the neighborhood.

Could Also Spot Sneak Arms Tests

Washington — A new radar device to spy across oceans and give a quick report on ballistic missile launchings is being developed, the U. S. navy says.

The radar also could be used as one means of uncovering nuclear weapons in violation of any international agreement.

Dr. William J. Thaler of the office of naval research and "father" of the new radar set-up called Project Tepee, said last night:

"I would hope you could double the warning time."

This would mean that the United States would have almost 30 minutes instead of 15 minutes—possible under the U. S. system now being built—in which to launch counter-weapons. Military men figure it would take about 30 minutes for a missile fired in Russia to reach the United States.

Thaler, 33, talked to newsmen about the project. Asked if the navy had tested the device against Russian ICBM launchings, he replied "No comment."

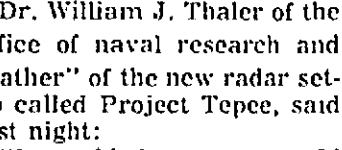

Still in Early Stage

Trials with the device, which he said is still in the early "breadboard" developmental stage, have worked at what amount to intermediate ranges—5,500 miles.

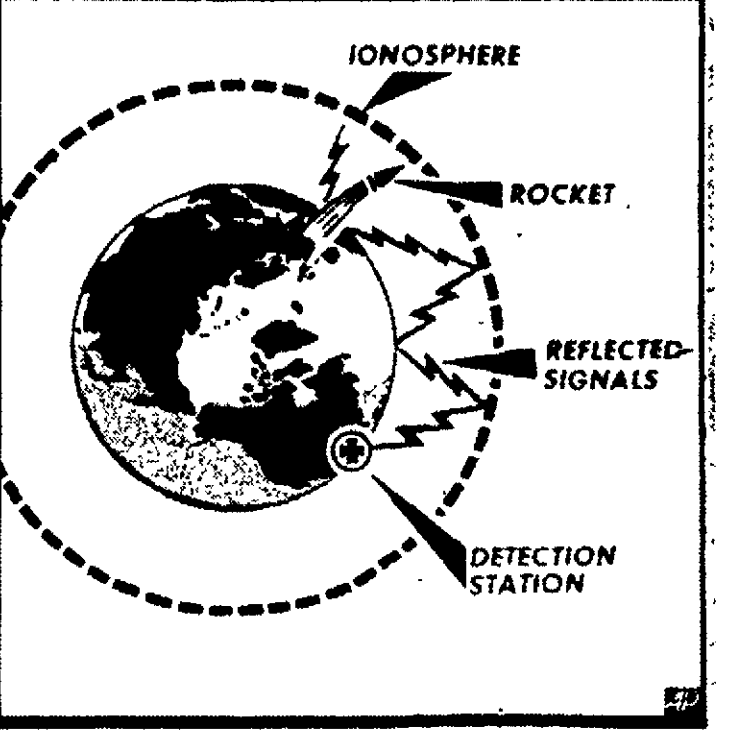

Thaler said the device is located at an undisclosed place in continental United States and picked up the ballistic missile-nuclear explosive tests made last summer in Project Argus in the South Atlantic and the Johnston Island tests in the Pacific.

However, the New York Times said today that several stations are now in operation, adding: "The number and locations of these stations are secret."

The Times story continued: "Soviet missile and satellite firings have been monitored for the last several years."

Shattered Business Region Sealed Off

Toll Grows to at Least 9 Dead in Oregon Explosion

Roseburg, Ore. — Eight blocks of the business district of this southern Oregon city—seared and shattered when a truck load of explosives blew up like a bomb—were sealed off by the national guard today while searchers sought more victims.

At least 11 persons were killed early yesterday when the 61 tons of dynamite and other explosives detonated after fire spread to the parked truck from a nearby building blaze.

About 100 Injured

Coroner C. H. Babbitt said he was certain that there were other deaths. He said ashes, believed to be the remains of humans, were found in a charred rooming house near the blast scene. The ashes are being sent to a laboratory for testing.

Some 100 persons were injured by the blast, 52 of them requiring hospital treatment.

The explosion, which eyewitnesses said sent a column of flame hundreds of feet into the air, caused extensive damage to an eight block section on the edge of the main business district. Buildings in some 22 blocks around the blast scene were damaged to a lesser extent. Firemen said they had reports of windows being broken as far away as seven miles.

Arlio Jacklin, mayor of this city of 12,200, said property damage would probably total 10 to 12 million dollars.

Loaded With Explosives

The truck, loaded with two tons of stick dynamite and 41 tons of the explosive mixture of ammonium nitrate and oil had been parked near the Gerretsen Building Supply company building for the night by its driver, George Rutherford, 47, of Chehalis, Wash.

It is believed that a fire started in trash cans and then spread to the Gerretsen structure. Firemen were fighting the fire which spread quickly—when at 1:15 a.m., the truck blew up with a deafening roar.

6 Die in Headon Montana Crash

Steele, N.D. — A head-on crash killed six persons near here yesterday. Victims were an Indiana couple, three Canadians and a woman from Great Britain.

Dead were Harry Sasek, 41, his wife, Vivian, 38, and Archal Groves, 72. Mrs. Sasek's father, all of St. James, Manitoba, Canada; Groves' sister, Elsie Groves, about 65, of London, England, and Dale Richards, 55, Hammond, Ind., and his wife, Elizabeth.

Highway patrolmen said cause of the accident was not clear. The cars met head-on in about the middle of U.S. Highway 10. Neither car overturned. Visibility was good.

Engineering Gains

But some, like W. J. Bryan of Detroit, owner of an aircraft he says can do several hundred miles an hour in the air and 52 m.p.h. on the highway, claim significant breakthroughs in aeronautical engineering.

Bryan says his "rotobill," which he can fly or drive after eight minutes of rearranging various parts, is "the pioneering answer to the needs of dual transportation all in one—flying and driving."

Building airplanes can be a time-consuming, expensive hobby.

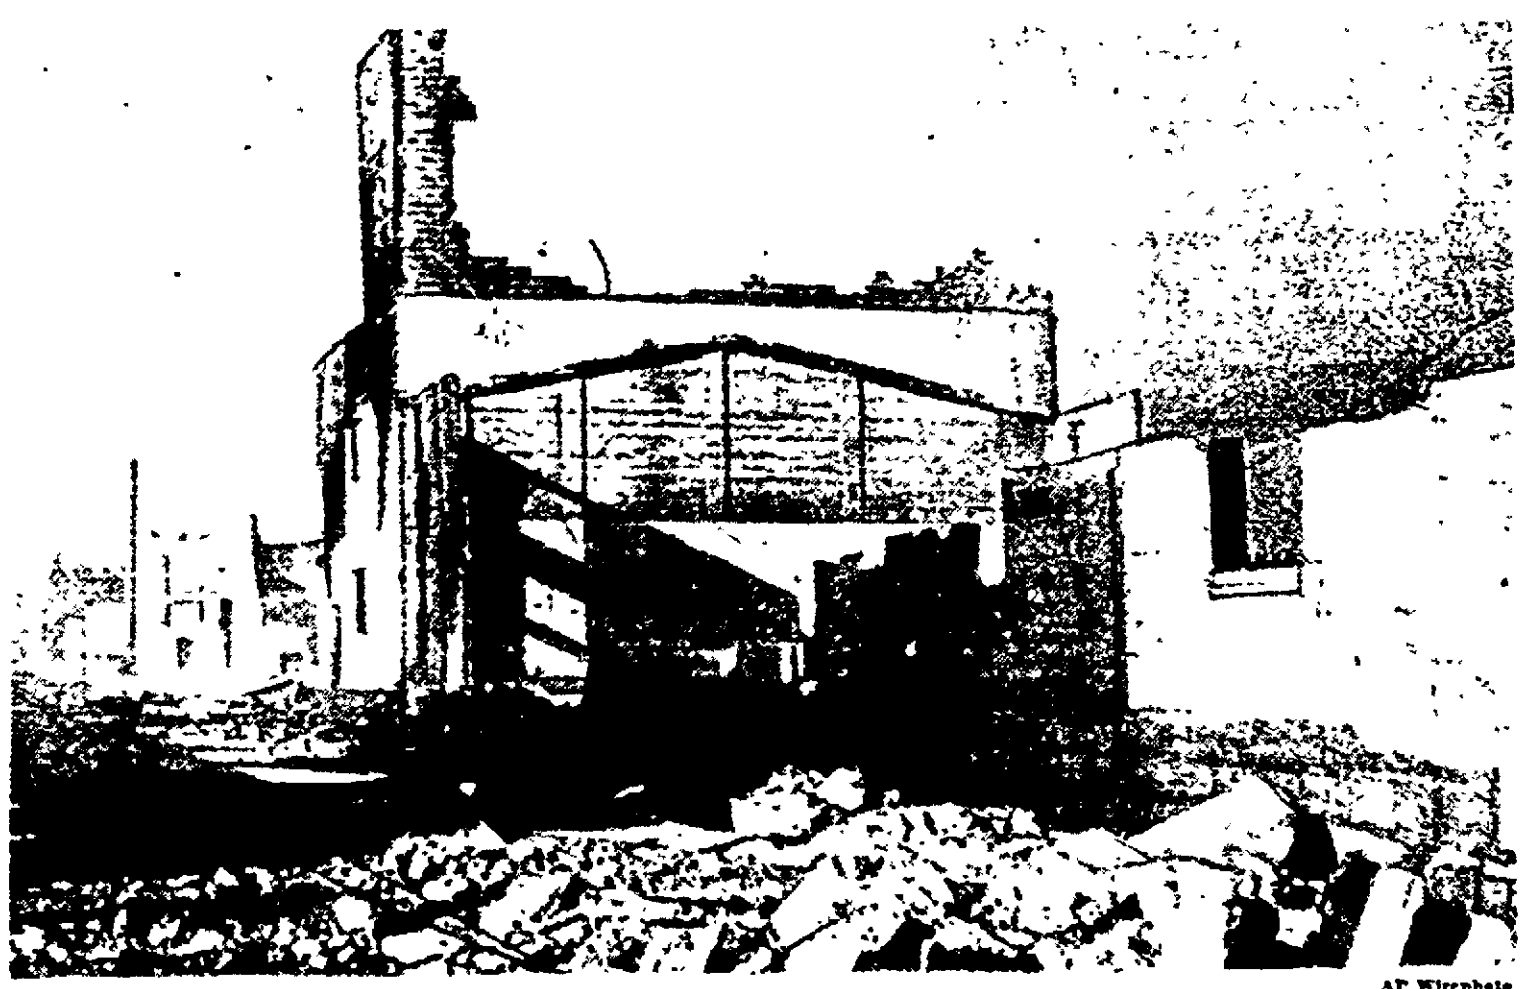

Russian-born Igor Benson of Raleigh, N. C., who favors autogyros, which rise like helicopters and fly level like conventional airplanes, says he has spent as many as 1,000 man hours and $15,000 on his do-it-yourself plane.

LC-K Squad Schedules Tilt With Macs '9'

Game to be Played Unless Papermakers Stay in State Tourney

Little Chute — The Little Chute — Kimberly team of the Fox Valley league will meet the Menasha Macs Sunday at 2 p.m. here, providing the squad is not playing in the state semi-pro tournament at Milwaukee.

Should the Papermakers advance in the state they would be playing Sunday and the Mac game would be postponed.

Neither the Macs nor LC-K has lost a game in second round play. Menasha has won four straight while the Papermakers have a 3-0 mark.

If the game is played, chances are the starting pitcher for LC-K will be Bob Schmidt. Al Harke pitched in the first tournament till Friday afternoon. Harke is an old nemesis of the Macs and holds two wins over them this season.

Gene Gries will probably get the starting nod for the Macs. Vic Stenson also will be available for pitching chores.

Kennedy Plans Second Tour Of Wisconsin

Senator to Visit Campaign Stops in Northwest Districts

Madison — Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) has scheduled a second 3-day Wisconsin tour this fall, his backers announced Friday.

The Massachusetts senator earlier scheduled a tour Sept. 24-26 in northwest Wisconsin, generally considered a stronghold of Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.).

Humphrey, who made appearances in Madison and Milwaukee earlier this week, plans to return in September and October. There's a good chance the two prominent Democrats will meet next April in the state's presidential preference primary.

Two Districts Ivan Nestingen of Madison, chairman of the Kennedy for President club, said the second Kennedy tour will be in November. It will probably cover the Seventh and Ninth Congressional districts, he said.

Kennedy's recent visits to the state — including that of April 9-11 — have been to heavily-populated southern and eastern areas.

Little Rapids Employee Since Beginning Retires, Ends Era

Little Rapids — A tie with the past has been broken. Arthur C. Otis, who helped build the Little Rapids mill, has retired after 50 years of employment.

He came off his family's nearby farm at 16 to work as a waterboy for the construction gangs building Lindauer and O'Donnell's mill. When it was completed he stayed on as a fireman in the heating plant and eventually moving to most of the jobs in the pulping mill.

At first he commuted from his farm home on foot or by the electric interurban that linked DePere and Kaukauna with the terminal at the present site of the Rialto theater in Kaukauna. When he married, he moved onto the mill property at Little Rapids.

Luther Lindauer came from Kaukauna to form the mill with a partner from Green Bay. The location of the plant, midway between Green Bay and the Fox villages, apparently was the result of a judicious compromise between the two.

Appleton Owners Otis has worked for several owners during his 50 years. The Riverside Paper and Fibre company of Appleton took over management 41 years ago and operated it for several years before the Combined Locks Paper company took over on a lease arrangement.

In 1927, the mill's name was changed to the Little Rapids Pulp company and after World War II Charles Egan of DePere took over until his present owners, Charmin Mills of Green Bay, took possession recently.

Ownership is not the only change Otis has seen.

More Pulp Now He can remember when the "sticks in the pond" were all spruce. Now the bulk of the raw material for the pulping operations is poplar.

The mill originally was set up to utilize the water power of the rapids and the capacity was from 12 to 14 tons of pulp a day. Improvements have practically doubled the output and cut down considerably on the "hull work."

One piece of excitement will stick in Otis' memory. In 1922 a flood poured over the dam and sliced away the mudbank between the mill and the government canal. It took eight months to get the plant back into normal operation.

For about 36 years Otis and his wife have lived in a company house put up by O'Connell at the time the mill was constructed. His retirement has not only caused him to turn his back on the job that has occupied him for half a century, but he and his wife moved from their home into DePere.

Their two married sons live in the DePere-Green Bay area and the move will make it a little easier to get better acquainted with their six grandchildren, a high priority part of Otis' retirement plans.

Klubbers Meet Reedsville Team In Sunday Game

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Klubbers will attempt to get back on the victory trail in the Fox River Valley Baseball league Sunday when they entertain Reedsville at 2 p.m. at the Dodge street park.

In second round play the Klubbers have a 2-2 record and need a win to stay in the first division.

Reedsville has had trouble getting started in the second round and has dropped four straight. In the first meeting between the two teams Kaukauna came away with a convincing 2-5 victory.

Either Joe Van Linn or Bill Lappen will get the starting assignment on the mound for Kaukauna. Jerry Hopfensberger also will be available for pitching duty.

Reedsville will probably have Bill Barnard on the hill with Willard Behnke in reserve.

Boys archery competition is slated for Monday and Wednesday and also Aug. 17 and 19. Age brackets are 7 and 8, 9 and 10, 11 and 12 and 13 and up.

Settlement Ends Ball Case

Former State College Professor Receives $9,774 for Quitting

Madison — The long and bitter controversy over the firing of George Ball as a Superior State college professor has ended with the board of state college regents paying him $9,774 for his resignation.

The regents announced the settlement Thursday, stating that the payment would cover loss of salary and other benefits that would have been his had he remained on the Superior staff. In turn Ball agreed that his resignation would coincide with the date he was fired — June 30, 1957.

Ball was fired by Superior President Jim Dan Hill on charges of inefficiency and incompatibility with school policies. The regents upheld the discharge after a public hearing but Ball appealed to the courts.

The Wisconsin Supreme court subsequently found that Ball was not given a fair hearing and ordered that he be either rehired or given another hearing. The regents then decided to seek a settlement with Ball who now is a faculty member at Iowa State Teachers college in Cedar Falls.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

Max Conrad made headlines recently when at the age of 56 he broke records by flying a light plane non-stop from Casablanca to Los Angeles. There was considerable stir about his remarkable feat but few knew of the greater obstacle Conrad had surmounted, through determination and faith.

I visited this grandfather, an old time stunt flier and the father of ten children, in his San Francisco home. His soft blue eyes and warm smile gave no indication that 30 years ago he lost his speech and memory as the result of a head injury.

That did not stop him. A gifted athlete, he drove himself to recovery with such firmness of purpose that he became an American entry in the 1932 Olympics high jumps.

Conrad was a barnstormer who engaged in many spectacular flights and who has ferried planes across the Atlantic scores of times. Yet he did not recover completely until recent years from his injury.

In the lonely flights at night, over a period of two years, he composed the words and music for The Flyer's Rosary. It goes like this—

By night on swift enchanted wings I fly,
Bright stars above become my Rosary;
Each star a lonely prayer which bids me try
To live in Faith and Hope and Charity.

Dr. Kagen Answers Fogging Charges

Says Insect Control Should be Scientific, Economical Practice

Fogging operations to kill mosquitoes were not stopped, they were put on a more scientific and economical basis, Dr. Marvin S. Kagen, health commissioner, said in a letter to the Post-Crescent Friday.

Dr. Kagen outlined his position after the city council ordered fogging resumed Wednesday night. Aldermen said Dr. Kagen had no right to discontinue the spraying ordered by the city council.

Dr. Kagen replied that fogging was never ordered stopped. Claude N. Greisch, deputy city health officer, was ordered to set up two mosquito traps to determine the number of mosquitoes in specific areas. If the adult mosquito count averaged more than 25 a day, Greisch was ordered to spray the area and search out mosquito-breeding places and eliminate them.

Sign Bill Extending Free Game Licenses To Service Personnel

Madison — Acting Gov. Robert Zimmerman today signed into law a bill extending free hunting and fishing privileges to persons on active duty with the armed forces.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson, before leaving Wisconsin last week for the Governors' Conference in Puerto Rico, asked Zimmerman to sign the bill. Quick action was necessary, the governor's office said, because the old law extending the privilege expired June 30.

The new law also directs the conservation commission to issue servicemen deer hunting licenses at resident fees.

Standard Oil's Net Earnings Up 50 Per Cent

Standard Oil company, Ind., consolidated net earnings for the first half of 1959 were up 50 per cent over the like period a year ago.

Per-share earnings for the first six months this year were $2.20 on an average of 35,769,645 outstanding shares, or 73 cents more than the $1.47 per share on about the same number of shares a year ago.

Consolidated net earnings were $78,851,272 for the first half against $52,423,067 for the first six months of 1958. In 1957, first-half earnings were $82,576,935, or $2.33 per share on 35,418,821 shares.

Total income for the first half of 1959 was $997,036,770 compared with $919,910,035 for the first half of 1958.

These gains reflect a 17 per cent increase in Standard's production of crude oil and natural gas liquids and a 9 per cent increase in the volume of product sales.

Flavored Cigarettes May Appear Soon on American Market

Los Angeles — If you like to play the gracious host, and your guests sometimes ask for cigarettes, you may shortly find yourself inquiring: "Cinnamon or chocolate?"

Or maybe: "How about trying a new-mown hay?"

The prospect of flavored cigarettes was discussed at a news conference Thursday by George Weissman, vice president and director of marketing for a major tobacco concern.

"The cigarette industry," he said, "is in the process of a revolution. There is a possibility that the cigarette we smoked a scant five years ago may become obsolete."

"The American public has let us know they will buy flavor."

"To that end, many cigarette companies are right now testing cinnamon flavor, chocolate — even new-mown hay."

Weissman didn't say when cinnamon cigarettes may appear in stores, but he did report that flavored smokes are being tried out on some 40,000 housewives around the country.

To Conduct State Aerial Roundup

The Appleton American Legion Johnston-Blessman Post 38 will hold a state aerial membership roundup Sunday, Nov. 8. Approximately 50 airplanes will come to the Outagamie county airport from throughout Wisconsin.

The post has been cited for the most outstanding child welfare program in the Ninth district the last year.

Among the activities which won the recognition were membership of the American Legion baseball, American Legion baseball, Easter Egg hunt, Christmas party, American Legion Junior Auxiliary activities and Christmas toys and baskets.

Roger Rusch is child welfare chairman of the post. Mrs. Fred Gehrke is child welfare chairman of the Legion auxiliary.

The post also has been awarded second place at the state Legion convention for their post history, compiled by Edward Arndt.

Midge Problem

Since the order was made, Greisch has discovered more than 25 mosquitoes in a trap on only one occasion. He sent the insects to Dr. Robert J. Dicke, University of Wisconsin insect expert, who identified them as non-biting flies or "midges—a nuisance problem in areas adjacent to Lake Winnebago where they breed."

Fogging has been discontinued completely since July 28, but will be started immediately, Dr. Kagen reported.

The mosquito control program was based on information received from the American Medical association, the U. S. health service, the district health officer, the state health department and Dr. Dicke, he reported.

Good and Evil

Dr. Kagen warned that insecticides have power for both good and evil. We consume DDT daily in our food supply, and while the present amount has not been found to cause noticeable damage, it would seem wise to hold the quantity at a minimum.

"Last year, Madison fogged on only one occasion, determined by a mosquito trap," Dr. Kagen said. "Our city fog-

Probation Given Man Who Failed To Pay Hotel Bill

Sentencing of Charles Skenadore, 22, route 2, W. De Pere, charged with absconding a hotel bill, was withheld Friday in municipal court.

Judge Oscar J. Schmiede placed the man on one year's probation to the state department of public welfare, ordered him to make restitution and pay court costs and told the sheriff to hold him in the county jail until he obtains a job.

John Conway, of the Conway hotel, charged Skenadore skipped out on a $59.30 hotel bill July 2.

Steel Strike Might Close Smith Plant

Milwaukee — The A. O. Smith corporation is preparing to close down its pipe mill, which employs about 700 persons, on Aug. 15 unless there is a quick settlement of the steel strike, a spokesman said today.

Executive Vice President F. S. Cornell said a strike settlement next week probably could avert more than a few days' layoff. However, once the mill is closed down, it would stay inoperative until about 10 days after the end of the strike, he added.

Closing of the Smith facility, which uses heavy steel plate in making line pipe, would be the first major effect of the steel strike on area industry.

Kennedy and Humphrey on the Catlin Act

It has been quite obvious that the Republican majority in the legislature, when the Catlin act was adopted, hoped to gain something by making it more difficult for Democratic candidates to raise campaign funds. Likewise when the Democrats succeeded in repealing the Catlin act they no doubt hoped to gain something by opening up a new source of revenue for their candidates.

Now it appears that both the Republicans and the Democrats in the legislature were too close to the woods to see the trees. The Catlin act was not successful in preventing the Democrats from getting all the money they needed to unseat the Republicans in the election following its enactment. Now that the Democrats have succeeded in repealing it they are warned by their leading candidate for the presidency that the use of union funds in politics is not a thing to be encouraged.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) during his recent visit to Milwaukee said in a TV interview that political contributions should be voluntary on the part of union members and that union funds should not be used for political purposes. When his attention was called to the fact that the Wisconsin legislature had just repealed the Catlin act which had been regarded as anathema to organized labor, Sen. Kennedy said he would have to take a look at the Catlin act before expressing an opinion on that but that he would not change his position holding that political contributions should be voluntary.

Only a day later Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) told reporters in Madison that he prefers individual and voluntary contributions of working men in his campaigns. Sen. Humphrey did not expressly oppose the use of union money in politics but he said union funds as such should be spent for political education, registration campaigns and similar efforts rather than in behalf of particular candidates. He declared that in his career he had asked only for voluntary backing by individual working men whose small contributions would be accompanied by the donor's personal campaign support.

Many years ago a wise man remarked that his prayer was that Divine Providence would protect him from his friends and leave him to defend himself from his enemies. There is just the suggestion in the statements of the two Democratic senators that experience has told them it is not wise for a candidate to find political friends and supporters among those labor leaders who are using funds contributed by others to buy his friendship. Such contributions place heavy obligations on the candidates receiving them. At the same time where such spending is resented by the rank and file of the union membership the greatest contribution of all—the votes of the members—may not go along with the cash contribution. In fact there is evidence to indicate that such contributions often are the real reason the "labor vote" cannot be delivered by the leaders. Thus it seems that while the Catlin act may have been of some value in protecting the funds contributed by union members, it was not of political significance either in the way intended by its supporters or by its repealers.

Failing Driver Candidates

The motor vehicle department made no particular point of the matter in its annual report, but there was considerable public importance in the revelation that about 30 per cent of all candidates for driver license examinations last year failed to pass their road tests.

This is one of the most encouraging signs of a more rigorous application of our public safety laws that we have seen, and a vindication of the courage and enterprise of the 1955 legislature in setting up the exclusive state driver licensing program.

In earlier years much of the license examination work was farmed out to local police officers, many of whom were pressed with more immediate duties, or were not especially trained for or interested in such work. Many a careless driver now using the roads of Wisconsin, we would guess, owes his credentials to a village marshal who gave a perfunctory examination, or merely filled out the blank forms on request.

It is encouraging also to note that the department is requiring re-examination for increasing numbers of drivers. That program probably will be expanded, as we try ever more anxiously to reduce our road accident toll. There is considerable authority for the idea of periodic re-examinations as a matter of course, and we hope that one day soon the legislature will consider the matter seriously.

The State and County Hospitals

Another round of legislative deliberations at Madison on the financing of county hospitals and the proper role of the state treasury in their budgets has come to a familiar impasse. Like other legislatures of the last several decades, the 1959 session was utterly unable to work out a financing formula that was acceptable to a majority of its members, reflecting the interests of local institutions within their districts.

The problem relates to the fact that the county hospitals differ considerably in the quality and scope of their programs, their size (which affects their per capita costs), the size of auxiliary operations such as farm units, and in the cost of their payrolls which are obviously affected by the variable conditions in local labor markets. An institution in Milwaukee county manifestly pays more for ward attendants and even nurses and other specialists than does one in remote Clark county.

Thus the state has contemplated the anomaly that either a flat schedule of aids, or a percentage of average costs, appears to penalize the more costly institution—which might be the best institution, although not necessarily—while it favors the lower cost facilities—which might be inferior, although not necessarily.

There has even been the allegation that some counties are making "profits" on the care of the unfortunate mentally ill in their hospitals, because of the application of the arbitrary state aid laws.

Yet it is perfectly clear after many years of legislative jockeying that a solution under the present aid system is not politically practicable, whatever might be the merits otherwise, and so the interested state officials in this field must search for new ways to equalize the treatment of the county hospitals.

In this regard there may be some hope in an act the legislature recently adopted at the suggestion of Gov. Nelson and without any spoken opposition from the counties or their hospital managements. It would prescribe a program of state standards for the operation of the county institutions, through the work of a state advisory committee to the state welfare department which will include county representatives.

This is a progressive step on its merits, aside from its possible promise of a solution of the state aid dilemma. The mental hygiene program is intrinsically the responsibility of the state. The counties actually have been functioning as state agents in this field. It also is a profoundly important program, in human and economic terms. Nearly seven out of 10 mental patients now confined to public care in the state—nearly 20,000 in the aggregate—are living in the county hospitals. The state already is spending $9 millions in aids for their care yearly.

This advisory committee will have the opportunity to set up desirable or minimum standards of operation or care, after which the legislature can adapt the state aid formulas in much the same way that it already has adjusted state educational aids to the scope and quality of local school services.

Library Ruling on Non-County Borrowers Brings a Protest

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Education of our children must be a continuous year 'round job. One of the most effective tools to accomplish this is to interest them in reading good books. Most of us do not have an adequate selection of books in our homes, and rely on our public libraries to help us keep the comic book in its proper perspective in our children's mind.

We of the rural area, adjacent to the city limits on the south side, have been told by people in authority that as of Sept. 1 the Appleton Public Library is closed to us and our children for the withdrawal of books. We have been ordered to turn in our cards because we are not taxpayers of Outagamie county. Was this the intention of the board? Did they actually intend to deprive us of this service? I sincerely hope the interpretation of this ruling at the library was misunderstood.

I have been asked to inform any business in Appleton that I have been doing business with, of our intention of stopping less at their shops should this ruling stand; so you can see this is not a matter to be taken lightly. Most of us do spend a considerable portion of our paycheck with the Appleton merchant. He is certainly a taxpayer and as such should realize the impact of rural trade on his business. If the only library open to us is at Chilton, we may as well make the trip worthwhile and do our weekly shopping at the same time.

The Appleton City Library is listed in the telephone directory as a public library and is engraved as such on the front of the building. The dictionary defines Public as: 1. belonging to or concerning the people as a whole—open to all the people; people in general.

I can see no basis for the reasoning that the Appleton Library should be open to people from as far away as Bear Creek and Leeman but closed to us.

Busy Bumble Bee

Lockport, N. Y. — An annoyed bee apparently gave him both barrels, 40-year-old Clarence Kinney told attendants at Memorial Hospital. He said the bee came after him as he mowed the lawn, and stung him over both eyes.

BY THOMAS A. BAILEY

The story of America's rejection of the League of Nations revolves largely around the personality and character of Thomas Woodrow Wilson.

Born in Virginia and reared in Yankee-gutted Georgia and the Carolinas, Wilson early developed a burning hatred of war and a passionate attachment to the Confederate-embraced principle of self-determination for minority peoples.

From his stiff-backed Scotch-Presbyterian forebears, he inherited a high degree of inflexibility. And

Only a quarter century before America took a major part in forming the United Nations in 1945, this country turned its back on the League of Nations. Now, on the 40th anniversary of President Wilson's stubborn but unsuccessful fight for the League, a noted historian gives us an incisive account of what happened.

from his father, a dedicated Presbyterian minister, he learned a stern moral code that would tolerate no compromise with wrong, as defined by Woodrow Wilson.

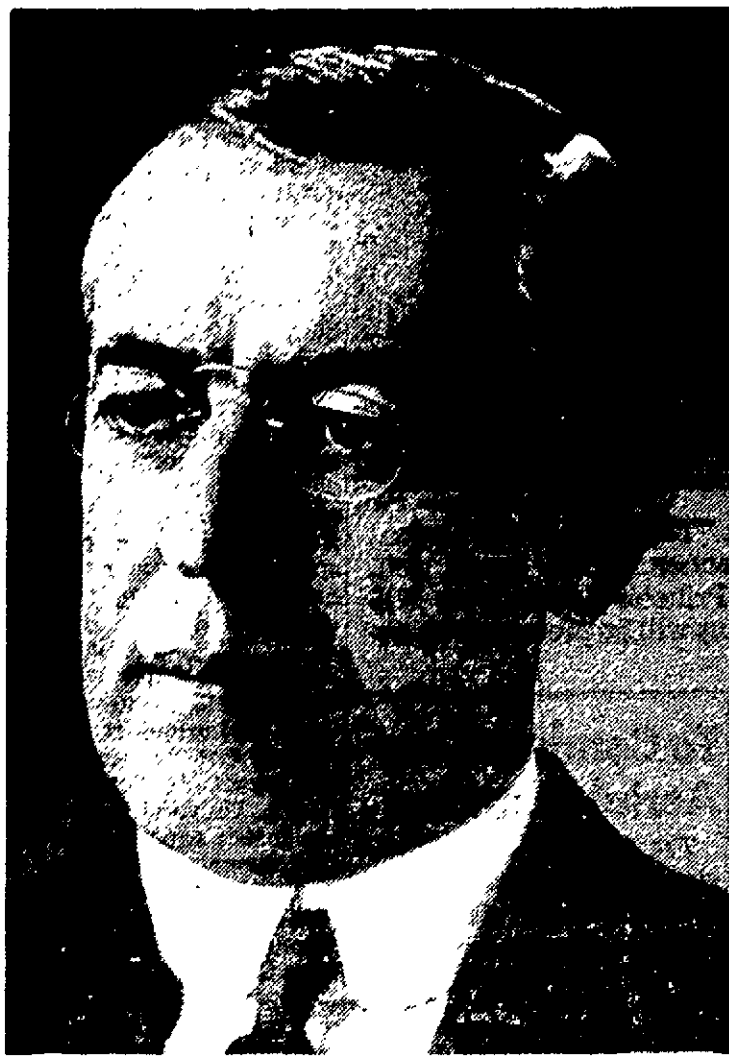

As a war leader, he was superb. Holding aloft the torch of idealism in one hand and the flaming sword of righteousness in the other, he aroused the masses to a holy crusade.

The 14 Points

The noblest expression of Wilson's idealism was his Fourteen Points address to congress in January, 1918. It compressed his war aims into punchy, placard-like paragraphs, expressly designed for propaganda purposes.

It appealed tremendously to oppressed peoples everywhere in the world by promising such goals as the end of secret treaties, freedom of the seas, the removal of economic barriers, a reduction of arms burdens, a fair adjustment of colonial claims, and self-determination for oppressed minorities.

The fourteenth point was a league of nations, designed to avert future wars. The basic idea was not original with Wilson. Even Henry Cabot Lodge, the Republican senator from Massachusetts, had already favored a league of nations, but he became very critical of Wilson's plan.

A knowledge of the Wilson-Lodge feud is basic to an understanding of the tragedy that unfolded. Wilson (Ph.D., John Hopkins) and Lodge (Ph.D., Harvard) were two learned but icy men who developed a mutual antipathy, which soon turned into freezing hatred.

Wrong Moves

The German armies, reeling under the blows of the Allies, were ready to give up by November, 1918. The formal armistice terms stipulated that Germany was to be guaranteed a peace based on the Fourteen Points.

Wilson now towered at the dizzy pinnacle of his popularity and power. But regrettably his wartime sureness of touch began to desert him, and he made a series of costly fumbles.

First came his brutally direct appeal for a Democratic congress in October, 1918. By a narrow margin, however, the voters returned a Republican congress.

Wilson next announced that he was sailing for France, presumably to use his still enormous prestige to fashion an enduring peace. At that time no president had ever gone abroad. The Republicans condemned the decision as evidence of a dangerous Messiah complex—of a desire, as former President Taft put it, "to hog the whole show."

The naming of the remaining five men to the peace delegation caused partisans further anguish. Only one, Henry White, was a Republican, and he was a minor figure at that.

Third Term?

The American president, hysterically hailed by European crowds as "Voovro Veelson," came to the Paris peace table in January, 1919, to meet with Lloyd George of Britain, Clemenceau of France, and Orlando of Italy. To his dismay, he soon discovered that they were far more interested in imperialism than in idealism.

Wilson's overriding concern was the League of Nations. He persuaded the conference not only to approve a hastily constructed League Covenant but to incorporate it bodily in the peace treaty.

Shortly after Wilson's temporary return to the U. S., mounting Republican opposition in the senate flared up. On March 4, 1919, 39 senators or senators-elect—more than enough to defeat the treaty—published a round robin to the effect that they would not approve the league in its existing form. This meant that Wilson had to return to Paris, hat in hand, and there weaken his position by having to seek modifications.

Stung to the quick, he struck back at his senatorial foes in an indiscreet speech. He boasted that when he brought the treaty back from Paris, the league covenant would be so thoroughly tied in that it could not be cut out without killing the entire pact. The senate, he assumed, would not dare to kill the treaty of peace outright.

Nothing for France

Clemenceau, the French realist, had little use for Wilson, the American idealist. He wanted the German Rhineland, but after a furious struggle, he was finally persuaded to yield this and other demands in return for a security treaty. Under it, Britain and America agreed to come to the aid of France in the event of another unprovoked aggression. The United States Senate short-sightedly pigeonholed the pact, and France was left with neither the Rhineland nor security.

Two other deadlocks almost broke up the conference. The Italian delegation bolted the meeting when they didn't receive the Adriatic port of Fiume. The Japanese wanted China's Shantung, and Wilson consented reluctantly to a compromise that left them temporarily in possession of it.

The Treaty of Versailles, as finally signed in June, 1919, included only about four of the original Fourteen Points. Wilson had had to compromise to salvage his fourteenth point, the League of Nations. He hoped the league would iron out the injustices that had crept into the treaty.

Opposed by All

Bitter opposition to the completed treaty had already begun to form in America. The war to end all wars had obviously fallen dismally short of the goal. At its end there were about 20 conflicts of varying intensity being waged all over the globe.

The Very name of Henry Cabot Lodge, senator from Massachusetts and opposition leader, was galling to Wilson. Yet something could have been saved by compromise with him.

Various foreign groups, including the Irish-Americans and the Italian-Americans, were complaining that the interests of the old country had been neglected. Professional liberals were denouncing the treaty as too harsh. The illiberals, far more numerous, were denouncing it as not harsh enough. The British-haters, like the buzz saw Sen. James Reed of Missouri, were proclaiming that England had emerged with undue influence. Such ultranationalists as Sen. William E. Borah of Idaho were insisting that the flag of no superstate should be hoisted above the glorious Stars and Stripes.

When the treaty came back from Paris, with the league firmly riveted in, Sen. Lodge deliberately adopted the technique of delay. As chairman of the powerful Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, he consumed two weeks of reading aloud the entire pact of 264 pages. He then held time-consuming public hearings.

The senator finally adopted the strategy of tacking reservations onto the treaty. He was able to achieve his goal because of the peculiar composition of the senate—49 Republicans and 47 Democrats.

The Lodge reservations finally broke the back of the treaty. They were all added

Legislature Did Well By State Employees

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The legislative agent of the organized state employees recently wrote to Gov. Nelson to thank him for all of the good things that happened to them as a result of 1959 legislation.

Wyngaard

The morale of the state worker has been considerably improved, the governor was told.

It should be. No legislature in memory has been quite as solicitous of the state employee than the one that recently recessed. Both parties fell over each other in their anxiety to gain the good will of the state employee. As a result the employees got virtually everything they wanted, and some things, in all likelihood, they really hadn't expected. It may very well be that this year they could have got along without a lobbyist altogether, which is not to minimize the technical skills and persistence of Roy Kubista, their long-time legislative liaison man.

Mr. Kubista didn't tell the governor anything about the morale of the taxpayers of Wisconsin, as they reflect about the multi-million dollar boosts in the cost of government these several gratuities represented. Nor did he volunteer what might happen to the employee of a private organization which faces a financial problem as doleful as that of the state. But that isn't his business, perhaps.

THE MEANING

Whether all of these boons were deserved, given the circumstances that faced the legislature, or whether the public employees of the state are generously treated or otherwise is a matter of individual taste.

What is more significant is the accumulating proof that the public employee interest, as a separate and conscious pressure group, is becoming more potent with each passing year.

Scarcely anything that any public employee pressure group wanted from the 1959 legislature was denied. The organized local employees also had a banner year, as their house organs are now chortling candidly. The policeman and firemen won from this legislature victories that they vainly sought from half a dozen previous sessions.

There are about 140,000 men and women in Wisconsin employed in state and local government. That is an enormous voting group, once it is organized. There is little doubt that it will be organized. Gov. Nelson at this writing is preparing to sign into law, for example, a bill that will encourage local employee unions through a statutory declaration of their permissibility. There had been no barrier to labor organizations of public servants. But the public employee unions wanted a positive law, to help them in their campaign.

COMPARISON

The Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance recently made a noteworthy study of public employment trends in Wisconsin and in the country.

It showed what has been generally supposed, that Wisconsin has been on the conservative side with respect to total public service employment, and on the generous side with respect to paying those employees in the services it has authorized.

By standard criteria, including population and economic rank, this state is about 20th in the country.

But Wisconsin ranks about 10th in the country for public service pay scales.

In full-time state and local employees, measured against population, the state ranks about 34th in the country. The apparent meaning is that Wisconsin has tended to hold down the growth of public services below the national average, but it has been inclined to spend more on such services that has established than does the typical state of this country.

Those measurements, moreover, were made without taking into account the generous benefits approved by the legislature which recently recessed, and which will be back in the fall with the possibility of yet other improvements.

Looking Backward

Juvenile Temple Organized

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Aug. 7, 1880.

A genuine field for temperance work is among the children. Perhaps it is not generally known that there is such a society in this city and as it is desirable that such knowledge be known, we take this method of informing everybody about it.

The society we have reference to is called the Appleton Juvenile Temple which meets every Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Union Hall where a regular order of business is gone through with at every meeting.

The good resulting from these meetings, to the children, cannot be too highly appreciated by parents and guardians. The initiatory ceremonies contain many valuable and useful lessons.

The exercises for the good of the order are well calculated to bring out and develop any child's talent for music and literature; the order also instills into their minds the necessity of "doing unto others as ye would have them do unto you."

Miss Lillian Herman was to give a report on the international Walther league convention, held recently at Omaha, Neb., at the meeting of the Junior Walther league at Mount Olive church Monday evening. The committee in charge of arrangements included Marguerite Kruckenberg, chairman, Katherine Hove and Marguerite Ries.

Creation of a state code for taverns was discussed at a meeting of the Fox River Valley Tavernkeepers' association. Thomas Miller of Appleton was president of the valley organization.

H. E. Christoph and A. C. Haselow, Neenah, were delegates to the district convention of Kiwanis clubs at Eau Claire.

Mrs. Margaret Zschaechner, Mrs. Lillian Trentlage, Mrs. Agnes Haferbecker, Mrs. Hattie Lappen, Mrs. Emma Aures, Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffmann, Mrs. Blanche Brinkman and Mrs. Clara Miller were appointed department aides at the meeting of George D. Lutherans Pick St. Paul Man For 4th Term

He Warns Missouri Synod Must 'Turn From Errors'

Saginaw, Mich. —(U)—The Rev. Oscar J. Naumann, St. Paul was elected to a fourth 2-year term Thursday as president of the Wisconsin synod Lutherans.

In his opening address to the biennial convention, the Rev. Mr. Naumann told 254 delegates from 16 states that if the Missouri synod of the Lutheran church "does not turn from its errors we must avoid it."

A joint committee of the Missouri and Wisconsin synods and the Slovak Lutheran churches, members of the synodical conference, has been trying since 1955 to iron out differences between the two groups and bring about unity.

The Missouri synod sponsors military chaplains and sanctions Boy Scout work. The Wisconsin synod does not. There also are other differences.

The Rev. B. H. Jackayya, a leading Indian Lutheran churchman, told delegates the traditional issue of separation of church and state is being put to a severe test in India.

The Rev. Mr. Jackayya said his church may be forced to make compromises with the government in education and with other churches in the area of evangelism.

The Rev. Mr. Jackayya, member of the Missouri synod, was criticized for his remarks by a leading Australian churchman, the Rev. Friedrich W. Noack, president of the Queensland district of the Wisconsin synod.

Attending from the Fox Cities area are the Rev. Arnold Tiesel, pastor of Bethel Evangelical church, Menasha; the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of Mt. Olive church, Appleton; Ronald Roehl, Appleton; Noah Bennetts, Black Creek; and Donald Quistorf, Kewaunee, are attending as delegates from the Fox Valley conference of Wisconsin Synod Lutheran churches.

Milwaukee Road Gets New Diesels

The Milwaukee road this week received the last of an order of 52 GP-9 diesel locomotives in an $84 million replacement program which has increased the railroad's total locomotive horsepower, William J. Quinn, president of the Milwaukee, has announced.

The 52 general purpose locomotives, manufactured by the Electro-Motive division of General Motors corporation, replaced 52 FT freight units. They were 14 to 18 years old.

The Milwaukee road sold the FT units to Electro-Motive and bought from that company the GP-9s which have been delivered to the railroad over a period of several months. Certain long wearing parts from the FT locomotives were available for use in the GP-9 replacement units.

The Outagamie County school for retarded children became another step closer to reality Thursday with acceptance of a $2,000 check from the Kings Daughters. From left are Mrs. William Bonzelet, treasurer of the Outagamie Citizens for the Mentally Retarded; Mrs. Robert Lang, treasurer of the Kings Daughters Charity circle; and Gustave Keller, chairman of the citizens' group. The school will be built at a cost of $36,000 to $40,000 on a 6-acre tract of land adjacent to Plamann park in Grand Chute.

Advancement Club Asks Parking Authority

Would Foster Development of Off-Street Areas, Northside Association Tells Council

The Northside Advancement association has asked the city council to create a parking authority to meet Appleton's parking problem. The request was referred to the board of public works.

The association said the authority would be in an advantageous position to foster development of off-street parking areas.

Other items referred to committees and boards were:

Trucking Petition

A petition from 25 residents on W. Brewster street from N. Mason to N. Douglas streets asking a trucking ban on W. Brewster street was referred to the public safety committee.

Ald. Donald W. Mueller requested a completed list of all work done by the park board, recreation department and electrical department in connection with Goodland field from 1958 to Aug. 4, 1959, including information about man hours and costs. The request was turned over to the board of public works.

Simon E. O'Connell, owner of the property at 300 N. Richmond street, requested street repair so water would not enter his basement. Ald. Stoebauer requested a similar study for 204 N. Richmond street.

Ald. Stoebauer requested repair of holes and bumps in the road east of the intersection of Locust and Harris streets.

Grade and Gravel

Grading and graveling requests for the following streets were referred to the street and sanitation committee:

K. Kamps avenue from N. Nicholas to N. Douglas streets.

S. Kernan avenue from E. Calumet street to Harding drive.

Harding drive from S. Kernan to S. Gladys avenue.

W. Roberts street from N. Mason to N. Summit streets.

Woodland avenue east of N. Kenilworth avenue.

Sewer and Water

Sewer and water requests were made for the following streets:

S. Lawe street from Wilson avenue to Taft avenue, water only.

W. Roberts street from N. Mason to N. Summit streets.

S. Kernan avenue from E. Calumet street to Harding drive.

Harding drive from S. Kernan to S. Gladys avenue.

W. Winnebago street from Sharon street west to the city limits, water only.

Curb and gutter requests for the following streets:

N. Ullman street from E. Glendale to E. Lindbergh streets, including sidewalk and other street improvements.

Woodland avenue east of N. Kenilworth avenue.

Ald. Lautenschlaeger requested a check of storm sewers on Marquette, Glendale, and Parkway streets between Superior and Clark streets.

Ald. Tucker requested parking bans in front of the Medical Arts clinic, 401 N. Oneida.

Ald. Tews requested parking bans on the south side of Schneider place between Outagamie and Douglas streets.

Return Grade, Seed Recommendation to Street Committee

A recommendation to grade and seed the boulevard around the Morrison and Franklin streets parking lot has been referred back to the street and sanitation committee on request of Ald. Austin Tucker.

Ald. Tucker said blacktopping would improve the appearance of the boulevard and eliminate maintenance.

Street Light Project Near Completion

Work on street lights on Washington and Superior streets should be completed within 50 days, Mullen Electric company officials report.

More than half of the sidewalk cutting has been finished, trenching will begin soon, wires will be buried and sand and light footings poured before the poles actually are erected, they explain.

Other major city electrical projects this summer have been carried out by city crews. They have reconditioned all of the city fire alarm boxes, adjusting all of them to a uniform height, painting and grounding them, Fred Volkman, electrical inspector, reports.

Crews also installed much of the conduit for the lights on the intersection at the east approach to the new high bridge. Only the lights themselves remain to be installed, Volkman said.

New pumps also were installed on the Lawe street lift bridge, replacing smaller devices which were not able to handle the dampness load and had burned out.

Crews also repaired traffic lights throughout the city and did routine summer work, Volkman said.

long-standing Appleton tradition giving residents a chance to check their property assessment before board of review meetings. Board of review will meet Aug. 24.

Land Annexation Delay Predicted

Annexation of land in the town of Buchanan will be delayed until the Land Associates officials are given definite information when sewer and water services can be furnished by Appleton.

The proposed annexation would extend the city of Appleton within 500 feet of the village limits of Kimberly. The property is north of the County Trunk Z and extends to the river.

The notice of delay came in a letter to City Clerk Elden Bochin Friday from Gaylord C. Loehning, attorney for the associates.

If the city extends the sewer along the river bank, easements will be necessary, the

Boy Fined $50, License Taken For One Year

Judge Oscar J. Schmlege has revoked the driver's license of Terry Strope, 16, of 913 E. Glendale avenue, for one year, and fined the boy $50.

Strope on July 21 had his driver's license revoked for 30 days for speeding, and for 60 days for disregarding a stop sign. Judge Schmlege at that time stayed only the 60-day revocation on condition the boy is not arrested within the year for any moving traffic violation.

Appleton police Monday caught Strope driving while the 30-day revocation was still in force.

Modern Vending Machines Replacing Open Counter

Jerry Zaugg

"In our present mechanized age the automatic merchandising business is expanding," stated Jerry Zaugg, vice president of Zaugg's, Inc., today.

He said that automatic merchandisers are replacing the open counter; industry is now able to provide the worker with a complete lunch—soups, hot foods, milk, coffee, ice cream, cold drinks, pastry, candy and cookies, on all shifts 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Zaugg pointed out that the cigaret machine means no in-vestment, no missing or stale vestment, the filling station operator no longer has to play trouble and a large invest-candy store. Hundreds of ment.

items are now provided at the drop of a coin.

He went on that expansion necessitates a satisfied customer—this means top service, fair and equal dealing and the highest quality merchandise.

Zaugg's, Inc., is an expanding business built on satisfied customers; starting from penny peanut machines in 1938, it now services well over 1,000 machines on location, selling everything from soup to nuts.

Zaugg said their expansion is based on top service, fair and equal dealing, and the highest quality merchandise. The most important area of expansion at Zaugg's, Inc., in the last two years has been in cigaret machines. He said that in this period of time they have doubled the number on location. In all instances Zaugg says the machine has saved the location owner time and a large investment.

New, Talk-A-Phone All-Transistor home intercom-radio system can now be seen at Valley Radio distributors, 518 N. Appleton street. The system provides complete intercommunication, as well as radio, all through the house, inside and out, and makes your home safer, more comfortable and more enjoyable, the firm states.

Intercom has become a modern day necessity within the home, as well as in industry, factory and office, because it answers the needs of today's practical homemaker. This new Talk-A-Phone system saves the housewife and homeowner miles of tiresome steps, and hours of time. Now, all through the house you can listen in on baby, children or the sick room; you can answer outside doors from any room without opening doors to strangers; you can talk from room to room; you can listen to your favorite radio programs throughout the house with the simple flick of a switch. The Talk-A-Phone home intercom radio system, which was chosen for exhibition at the U. S. pavilion at the Brussels World's Fair, does not utilize tubes. Instead it incorporates a transistor circuit of 7 triodes and 2 diodes. There are no tubes to replace and no heat emitted so flush or surface mounting is easy in new construction as well as in homes already constructed. See the New Talk-A-Phone at Valley Radio Distributors, 518 N. Appleton street. Phone RE 3-6012.

Adjacent to the auditorium are 12 rooms for instruction. Pupils are taught the use of all types of instruments. Fifteen instructors compose the music staff, the firm states, and there are approximately 200 pupils.

Your Problems

Girl Invents Romantic Stories To Impress Popular Cousin

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN: I've never written to a paper before but I think you may be able to help me because you, too, are the mother of a teenage daughter.

Our Elizabeth is 15. She's a lovely girl, attractive and bright. But she doesn't date yet. For about five years she's been corresponding with her cousin Louise, who is also 15. Apparently Louise has been dating for some time, and is very popular.

Recently Elizabeth gave me a letter to mail. Since it was not sealed I read it. I was shocked. It was a detailed report to Louise — fantastic stories about parties, dates and fellows she's never gone with.

I had to tell my daughter I read the letter as there seemed to be no other way. She promised not to write such lies again. Yesterday I opened another letter and it had more wild stories than the first. What shall I do next?

Disappointed Mother
Dear Disappointed: The first thing you can do is stop reading your daughter's mail. It's difficult for a mother to preach integrity and truth when she sets a poor example.

Elizabeth is competing with her cousin and trying desperately to glamorize her everyday life which she thinks dull by comparison. Help your daughter see that her flights into fantasy are immature. Point out the interesting aspects of her daily life.

At 15 boys should not be the center of the universe. Tell Elizabeth it will be more fun if she waits until things happen before she reports on them.

DEAR ANN: Will you please print the other side of the story and give a mother-in-law a break for once? I refer to the wife who cried all over your column that her husband bought his mother a beautiful water-pitcher set for Mother's day and she (the poor neglected wife) didn't get anything. I know the people, and here's the real story:

The wife has genuine rock crystal and wouldn't have the water-pitcher set (value $125) in her home. The mother-in-law is 89 and has worked in a factory for 25 years to support her children without help from anyone. (She's still working.)

The daughter-in-law is a selfish snip who hates to see her husband do anything for his mother. Me — I'm the owner of this building. The mother-in-law lives in my basement

G. L. Appel, Bride, Miss Anne Darling, Plan Canadian Trip

A Canadian honeymoon is following the wedding at 9 a.m. today at St. Therese Catholic church of Miss Anne Marie Darling, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Stephen F. Darling, 617 E. Alice street, and Gary L. Appel, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. August W. Appel, 2304 N. Oneida street.

In Good Taste

Ceremony Planned at 2 Churches

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a Protestant and am marrying a man of Jewish faith. In order to satisfy both families, we will have two services, one in my church for my family and friends and one in his church for his family and friends. Both services will take place on the same day and a large reception will be given later for everyone. This being a rather unusual situation, I am completely at a loss as to how to word my invitations. Would two separate church invitations be sent out, or would one invitation do, and if so, how should it be worded?

Answer: I have never heard of two ceremonies, but if you have the permission of both churches, I think one invitation to both services would be best and guests could take their choice as to which service they would like to go, and some may even like to go to both. The wording should state the time and place of the earliest service with the words "and a second service" at specified time and place.

Shorts In Town
Dear Mrs. Post: Last weekend I went to visit some friends who live in the suburbs. On Saturday afternoon I drove to town with my friend who had to pick up a few things. I noticed a great many of the women walking through the stores wearing shorts. I thought this is shockingly bad taste. I have no objection to shorts, but certainly do not think them proper when shopping. Do you agree, or am I just plain old fashioned?

Answer: Maybe I too am old fashioned because I most certainly agree with you. Unaccepted Invitation
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it required that every invitation to a social function be returned even though it is impossible or impractical to accept all invitations?

Answer: According to etiquette, an invitation even though not accepted occurs an obligation which ought to be returned if you can.

Al Krug Wins Election to Pythian Office
Al Krug was elected state grand outer guard of the Knights of Pythias at the convention that ended Tuesday in Eau Claire.

Mrs. Walter Koester attended the convention as representative of the Appleton Pythian Sisters, in addition to delegate Mrs. Melvin Ruth.

Tiling Keeps Out Insects
Tile wall, floor and counter covering in your kitchen is a good way to banish insects from your home. No insect can get through a properly installed tile surface.

In the same way, tile provides complete protection against penetration of water, grease and other agents that can cause damage and deterioration in the kitchen.

Currently honeymooning in northern Wisconsin are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin R. Dorn, Jr. The pair wed in a ceremony held on Aug. 1. The bride is the former Miss Ione B. Herrmann, daughter of Walter Herrmann, 1601 S. Jackson street. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin R. Dorn Sr., Beaver Dam.

by a simple majority vote, even though the entire pact would have to be approved by a two-thirds vote.

League on Tour

As the hot summer of 1919 wore on, Wilson became increasingly impatient. Finally he decided to take his case to the country, as he had so often done.

The spectacular tour met with limited enthusiasm in the middle west, the home of several million German-Americans. But on the Pacific coast and in the Rocky Mountain area the enthusiasm for Wilson and the league was overwhelming.

The high point — and the breaking point — of the trip came at Pueblo, Colo., where Wilson, with tears streaming down his cheeks, pleaded for his beloved league.

That night Wilson's weary body rebelled. Whisked back to Washington, he suffered a stroke that paralyzed the left side of his body. For weeks he lay in bed, a desperately sick man. The Democrats, who had no first-rate leader in the senate, were left rudderless.

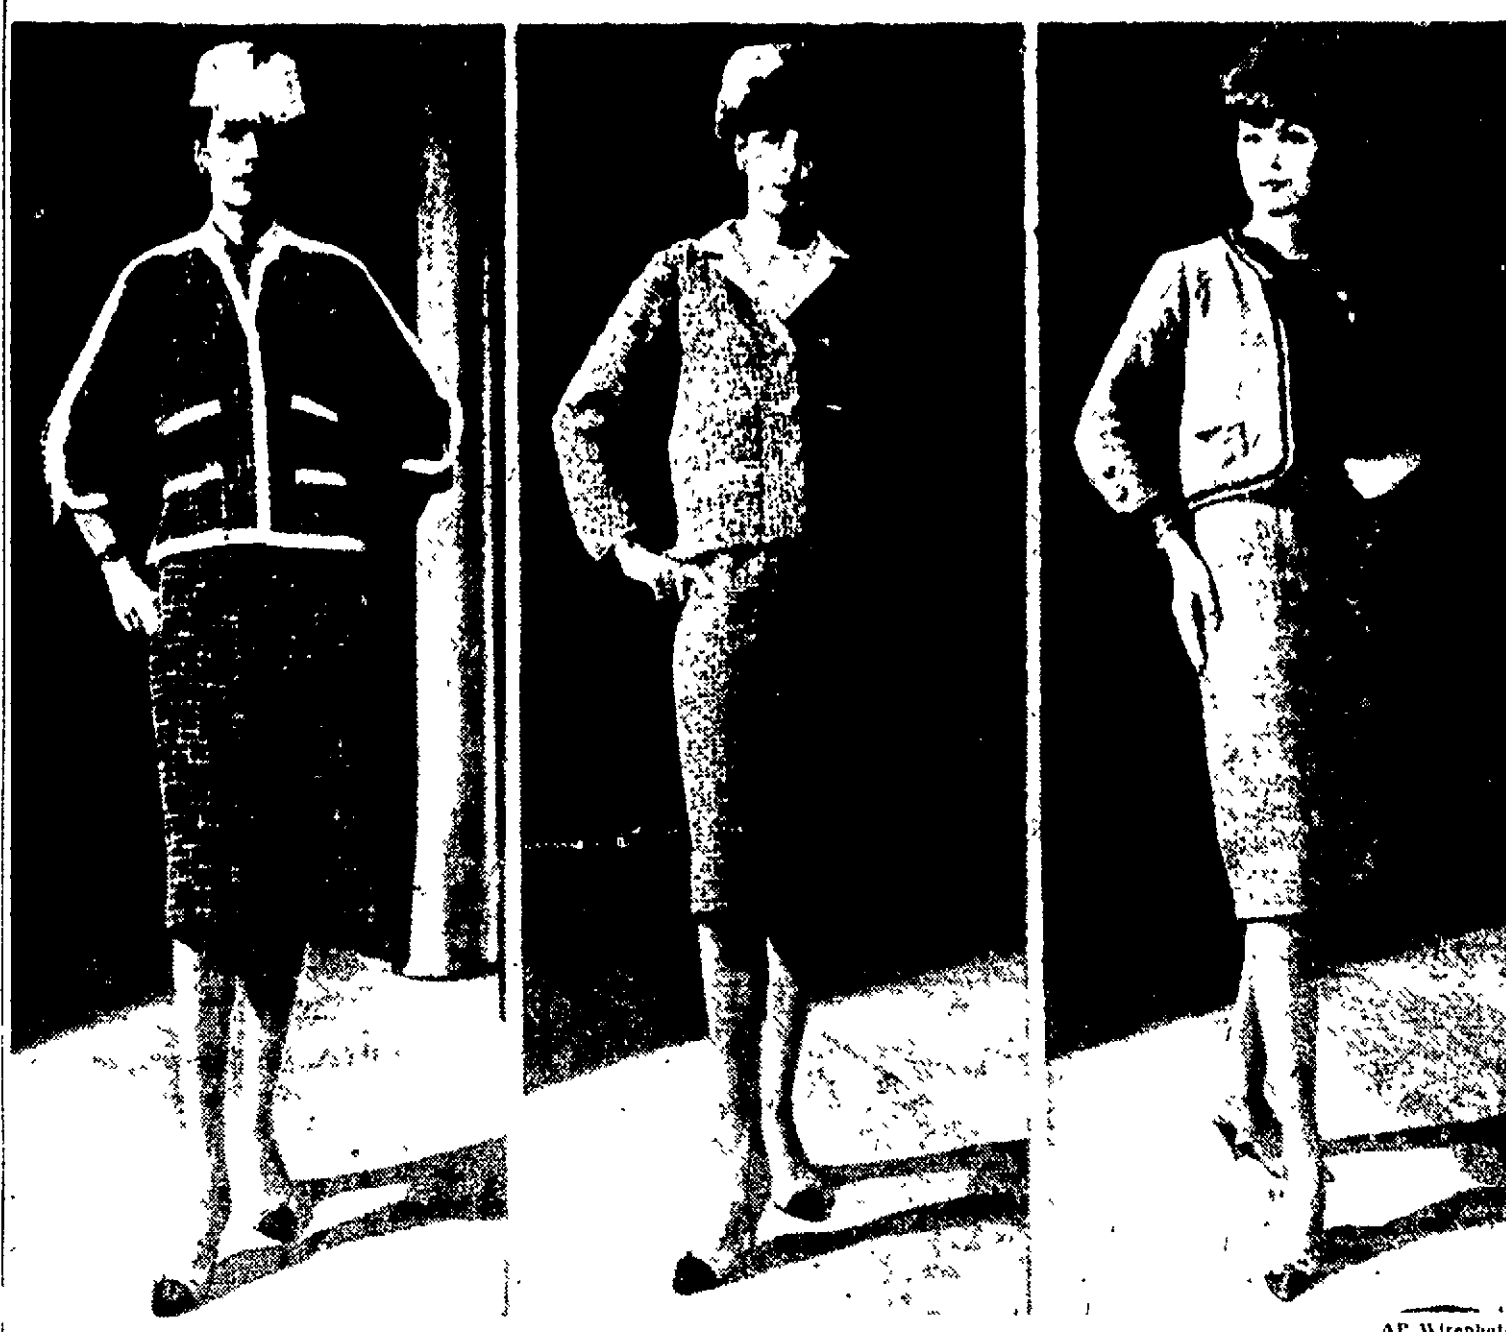

Lodge Takes Over

Sen. Lodge, cold and decisive, was now in the driver's seat. His Fourteen Reservations, a sardonic parallel to Wilson's Fourteen Points, had been whipped into shape. Most of them now seem either irrelevant, inconsequential, or unnecessary. But Wilson, who hated the sound of Lodge's name, would have no part of them.

The senate was ready for final action on Nov. 19, 1919. At the critical moment Wilson sent a fateful letter to the Democratic minority in the senate, urging them to vote down the treaty with the Lodge reservations so that a true ratification could be achieved.

Late Vacationers Can Still Tan

Even though you take a late vacation, it's not too late to acquire a healthy, glamorous tan. But don't try to get it all on the first day — it's not too late to sunburn, either.

Take your sun in easy doses and always protect your skin with a good suntan lotion. To keep the skin from getting leathery, be generous with creams and emollients. Cool and soothe the skin with a mild astringent like good quality witch hazel.

Ingrown Toenails Need Treatment

The ingrown toenail is usually a homegrown problem. Causes include too-tight shoes, and improper pedicure. Before trimming nails, be sure the skin and the scissors are clean. After trimming, hold a cotton square soaked in good quality witch hazel over the affected area for several minutes.

Rockefeller, Fiancee Argue Over Church Site

Kristiansand, Norway — Steven Rockefeller announced with a grin today he has lost his first real argument to his fiancée. Therefore his wedding will be performed two weeks from today in the "New" Lunde church.

The son of New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller appeared before reporters and photographers with Anne Marie Rasmussen outside the home of the bride's father.

He confined details of the nuptials to the choice of the church.

"If I give you everything about the wedding now," he said, "you won't have anything to write at the time of the wedding and then you'd be the ones who were sorry."

Steven had wanted to be married in the three-century-old church in Sogne because of its tradition and primitive beauty, but Anne Marie insisted on the "new" church where she was christened and confirmed in the Norwegian Lutheran faith. Steven yielded and judging from his good humor he regarded it as something less than a crisis.

The 23-year-old heir to some of the Rockefeller millions had been avoiding news-men since he came here last

Planning Ahead Saves Hours Spent in Cleaning Messy Gas Range Ovens

If you get the feeling that you're on perpetual KP duty while your neighbors relax outdoors, there's something you can do about it.

According to Margaret Spader, home service editor for the Gas Appliance Manufacturers association, there are ways to save time and temper on exasperating kitchen clean-up jobs. Take cleaning the gas range, for instance. An ounce of prevention will save hours of labor on that task alone, Miss Spader points out.

Fruit pies that run over in the oven and meat roasting are two cooking tasks that frequently result in a tedious even-cleaning job. A tidy cook can perform both jobs to perfection without creating a major clean-up task.

Seal Correctly

In the case of fruit pies, the best preventative is to take the time to seal a two-crust pie correctly. Many good cookbooks give explicit directions for making beautiful pies that won't boil over.

Another precaution against pie run-overs: Lay a piece of aluminum foil slightly larger than the pie pan beneath it on the oven rack. Miss Spader warns against covering the bottom of the oven or the entire oven rack with aluminum foil, because gas range manufacturers have spent a lot of time, money and effort in designing gas ovens in which heat circulation will produce uniform browning, and spreading aluminum foil too generously will seriously affect the heat distribution.

On the subject of meat roasting, Miss Spader recommends low-temperature roasting.

Within the next few days, the garbage was whisked out before it had time to dampen the paper, and the trash was burned with lingering attention to detail. While the grass in the back forty grew long enough to wave in the breeze, the grass in the front yard was mowed four times in seven days, and a variety of activities which under normal circumstances would have occurred almost anywhere else, now took place in the front yard.

A little tired of the whole affair—particularly after Libby's look to spying on the new boy with John's binoculars from behind an over-sized bridal wreath bush — I was about to declare the front yard out of bounds and the season winched and shut my eyes closed, when her victim's re-subsequent caramelizing of the deposits in the oven.

Pan scouring, boil-overs and cooking vapors can be reduced in the kitchen by adjusting the gas flame. The automatic top burner heat control permits the cook to give an exact timing to heat-sensitive foods such as eggs and spaghetti. Milk, when heated in an aluminum pan, will reach scalding temperature when the thermostat control is set at 175 degrees, and the pan will be much easier to wash. The deposit can be removed with a sponge.

Miss Spader suggests that homemakers familiarize themselves with the direction books that come with their appliances. They contain a variety of helpful suggestions for getting full value from one's investment.

Family Diary

This summer while other girls her age have been learning to apply lipstick, Libby has alternated between improving her crawl stroke and reading everything in the house. Consequently I wasn't prepared when Libby announced the other night that a rather interesting "male character" had moved into the house across the street.

"I had only the barest glimpse of him while I was taking out the garbage," she announced, "but he is the very first boy that I have found not completely repulsive." She looked dreamy. "Would you possibly have a few more scraps I could take out before it gets dark?"

The bidding:

West North East South

3 S D'ble 4 H Pass

Pass D'ble Pass 6 D

Opening lead:

Six of hearts.

South's bid of six diamonds was really out of this world. In reality, South, who did not have a free bid over East's call of four hearts, suddenly thought that he had great untold resources and jumped to a slam in diamonds. It always will remain a mystery as to how South could figure North had almost a solid hand, but such is life.

The ace of spades lead by West will beat the hand immediately. It might have dawned upon West to make that lead because East ran from three spades doubled to four hearts and it would seem a foolish bid unless East was very short in spades.

It is necessary to give credit where it is due and what South lacked in bidding technique, he more than made up for with his great play on this hand. The opening heart lead was taken in dummy with the ace. On the surface, it would appear that South had to lose either two spade tricks or one spade and one heart inasmuch as dummy will only provide three discards on the club suit. But watch a loser disappear.

Declarer drew three rounds of trumps as West echoed for a spade play. Now a small club was led to the king and a small club returned to dummy. Declarer now ran the remaining clubs and discarded three spades from his hand. He was now left with one heart, two trumps and the singleton king of spades.

At this point, declarer led the jack of hearts from dummy and East took the king. East now was down to a heart flush and had to play another heart on which South threw his spade king and ruffed in dummy. There was the slam. Yes, I think that East should have doubled for a specific lead. West would not have had much trouble in finding a spade lead but he might have picked up his partner with a little thought.

Polio Cases Continue to Show Rise

Washington —A— The number of paralytic polio cases continued to increase last week, but the pace was slowed somewhat.

The total for the United States last week was 183, a record number for 1959, the public health service reported yesterday.

That was an increase of eight over the total for the week before. Early last month, the figure had jumped 50 per cent in one week.

For the first eight months of this year, there have been 1,314 paralytic cases. In the same period last year, there were 579 such cases. In 1955, before Salk polio vaccine was available, 2,525 paralytic cases were reported in the first eight months.

The public health service said that 83 per cent of this year's polio victims—both paralytic and non-paralytic—have been Negroes and that more than 75 per cent of the paralytic victims had not taken any polio vaccine.

In the nation, new polio cases of all types totaled 312 last week, compared to 276 the week before. For the year through Aug. 1, the total was 2,050 cases, compared to 1,168 during the same period in 1958.

Manufacturers reported that the vaccine situation had tightened. They had 695,498 doses on hand and most of them would be used to fill orders already placed.

Libby Learns Love's A Game for Losers

Kim every day. They played the badminton tournament in tennis and badminton and tennis swimming. Then, as suddenly as the romance started, it stopped. In spite of feverish activity in the front yard, nothing happened. The evening of the third Kinless day, Libby broke the news to me while we were doing dishes. "Well, I saw him," she said. "At the swimming pool with Mimi Potter. You know the one that sang the aria at the music festival. Well, maybe she can sing, but she can't swim!" Libby laughed derisively. "She even squealed when he splashed her."

"Lots of girls do," a man is like shooting fish in a pond. He drifted away.

"What in the world is Dad doing talking about?" Libby wondered with me the other day and I nearly drowned him.

I began to see a glimmer of light. "By the way, who won the badminton tournament in the back yard?"

"I did, of course."

"And the day you played tennis?"

Libby gave me a wide-eyed look. "I skunked him. Why?"

I took my hands out of the dishwasher. "There are some things every woman knows—a man once wrote a play about it—and if she doesn't know them, she ought to. It's like this . . ."

John came out in the kitchen before I'd finished. "Didn't know you girls had it down to such an exact science. Getting a man is like shooting fish in a pond." He drifted away.

John came out in the kitchen before I'd finished. "Didn't know you girls had it down to such an exact science. Getting a man is like shooting fish in a pond." He drifted away.

"What in the world is Dad doing talking about?" Libby wondered with me the other day and I nearly drowned him.

I began to see a glimmer of light. "By the way, who won the badminton tournament in the back yard?"

"I did, of course."

"And the day you played tennis?"

Libby gave me a wide-eyed look. "I skunked him. Why?"

Water Access Plan Satisfies Governor

$165,000 Authorized to Provide Ways for Reaching Public Areas Of Recreation in Wisconsin

Post-Crescent Staff Bureau

Madison — The legislature has considerably modified Gov. Nelson's original blueprint for a public waters access program, but the governor is satisfied with the result and believes that the precedent will bring an expanded effort in future years.

The legislature has authorized a specific appropriation of $165,000 a year for the next two years with which the conservation department is expected to make a beginning in the provision of access in those localities where increasing numbers of recreational water users are sometimes barred from reaching public waters because they are ringed with privately owned lands.

Comparatively Small The amount is comparatively small, and is surrounded by some significant restrictions. Yet if the program is started in the more populated sections of the state, such as southeastern Wisconsin, it may have a value in demonstrating the possibilities of such an effort, the state administration feels.

The fact that the counties and the state highway department are designated as partners in the new program bring certain questions to be resolved. As the law reads, the conservation department will designate a public access need, and the highway department will finance the acquisition, with the local county government required to match funds equally.

But officials have not yet decided, as one example, whose will be the responsibility for condensing the land pend upon their provision of equal funds. The conservation department, meanwhile, has launched its own public water access program, without regard to the new law and the new appropriation. It has been limited in scope, relying upon fish and game funds that are needed in other directions, but presumably it could be expanded by conservation commission action.

The department's principal worry is the maintenance responsibility for such access point. Small and scattered as they are likely to be, they should be supervised and maintained by local governments and preferably counties which have extensive highway department crews to patrol the year around, in the state department's view.

Moreover, if the counties are as indifferent to the matter as they have been in the past, the new program won't be cooperative, because it depends upon their provision of equal funds.

Madison — The waterfowl production outlook for the year is not good.

That's the report from J. R. Smith, head of the state game division, upon his return from a conference at St. Louis where officials of the Mississippi Flyway Council discussed the fall duck prospects.

In general, Smith found that the extreme drought conditions in Minnesota and the Dakota pothole country and the southern prairie provinces of Canada contribute to the indifferent outlook.

The breeding population declines which have been tabulated up to date affect ducks, coots and rails. The breeding population of geese appears normal, the specialists said.

It was found that the reduction in breeding birds is about 40 per cent in the Canadian territory that contributes directly to the mallard population of the Mississippi flyway.

But the actual reproduction potential of the remaining birds may be less than in other years because of the severe crowding of the survivors on the limited water, it was explained.

The situation on canvasbacks is even more gloomy. Throughout the central provinces the species has declined from a third to two thirds. Redheads are also somewhat down and scaups appear to be in normal condition. Breeding counts of coots and rails are down severely.

Madison — Panfish and muskies are providing most of the sport for Wisconsin fishermen this week.

The conservation department, in citing spots where jumbo panfish are being taken, singled out the Oshkosh side of Lake Winnebago for perch and Yellowstone lake in Lafayette county for bluegills. Many of the Yellowstone bluegills were one-pounders.

Park lake near Portage is also providing bluegills sport. The department said a heavy winter kill apparently solved the lake's stunted fish problem.

Big game fish landed recently included a 34 - pound musky and a 22½-pound northern.

The usual summer slump on walleye, pike and black bass fishing is less severe than usual, the department noted. Wardens turned in numerous reports of fair to good fishing for these species.

Waupaca county—Warden Rex Oatman: Fishing generally poor with bluegills being best on Stratton, Bear and Chain of Lakes. Some large perch are being caught on Partridge lake. Bass fishing good on lower Waupaca and Little Wolf river. Trout fishing poor.

Waushara county—Warden Herb Leucker: Good catches of perch on Big Silver lake. Fair catches of bluegill and perch on Big Hills lake. Good bass fishing on Long lake. Trout fishing fair to poor.

Winnebago county—Warden Donald Knicker: Nice catches of perch are being taken on all lakes, with the largest perch being taken on Winnebago. Walleyes, northern pike and bass are hitting very poorly. Good catches of catfish are being taken on the Wolf and Fox rivers.

Brown county—Warden Robert R. Green: Perch fishing remains good. Water should be settled from the wind storms this week end, allowing nice catches.

Lancaster county—Warden Carl T. Miersch: Water conditions below normal. Trout fair, dry fly fishing most productive. Muskie fair to good. Walleye, northern bass, in general mid-summer slump. Panfish fair.

Lincoln county—Wardens Don Vanthier and Herbert Carow: Walleyes, northern and bass fair on Lake Nokomis, Wisconsin river and lakes in Harrison area. Trout fair on Trout river and North Branch. Panfish good on all waters. Muskies alive on Wisconsin river from Tomahawk to Brockway.

Marquette county—Wardens Ralph Richardson, Thomas Alberts and Ken Kasmir: Trout fishing good with some very good catches being made on Upper Inlet. Trout fishing on Thunder lake slow. Panfishing good with bluegills being taken on various lakes. Fall producing some crappies on numerous. Bass fishing fair to good. Northern generally slow but a few nice ones being caught in Nemadji river.

Greene county—Warden Arthur Odell: Streams continue low. Trout fair on Fox. Panfish slow in deep water. Northern fair and good on Fox. Bass very good on Green Bay waters.

Waupaca county—Warden Rex Oatman: Fishing generally poor with bluegills being best on Stratton, Bear and Chain of Lakes. Some large perch are being caught on Partridge lake. Bass fishing good on lower Waupaca and Little Wolf river. Trout fishing poor.

Waushara county—Warden Herb Leucker: Good catches of perch on Big Silver lake. Fair catches of bluegill and perch on Big Hills lake. Good bass fishing on Long lake. Trout fishing fair to poor.

Winnebago county—Warden Donald Knicker: Nice catches of perch are being taken on all lakes, with the largest perch being taken on Winnebago. Walleyes, northern pike and bass are hitting very poorly. Good catches of catfish are being taken on the Wolf and Fox rivers.

Brown county—Warden Robert R. Green: Perch fishing remains good. Water should be settled from the wind storms this week end, allowing nice catches.

Lancaster county—Warden Carl T. Miersch: Water conditions below normal. Trout fair, dry fly fishing most productive. Muskie fair to good. Walleye, northern bass, in general mid-summer slump. Panfish fair.

Lincoln county—Wardens Don Vanthier and Herbert Carow: Walleyes, northern and bass fair on Lake Nokomis, Wisconsin river and lakes in Harrison area. Trout fair on Trout river and North Branch. Panfish good on all waters. Muskies alive on Wisconsin river from Tomahawk to Brockway.

Marquette county—Wardens Ralph Richardson, Thomas Alberts and Ken Kasmir: Trout fishing good with some very good catches being made on Upper Inlet. Trout fishing on Thunder lake slow. Panfishing good with bluegills being taken on various lakes. Fall producing some crappies on numerous. Bass fishing fair to good. Northern generally slow but a few nice ones being caught in Nemadji river.

Panfishing in State Good, Report Says

Madison — Panfish and muskies are providing most of the sport for Wisconsin fishermen this week.

The conservation department, in citing spots where jumbo panfish are being taken, singled out the Oshkosh side of Lake Winnebago for perch and Yellowstone lake in Lafayette county for bluegills. Many of the Yellowstone bluegills were one-pounders.

Park lake near Portage is also providing bluegills sport. The department said a heavy winter kill apparently solved the lake's stunted fish problem.

Big game fish landed recently included a 34 - pound musky and a 22½-pound northern.

Officials Agree on Cheese Grading

Wisconsin Product Conforms With State, Federal Sales Standards

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — Top level leaders and officials of the cheese industry met behind closed doors here Friday to discuss issues involved in grading, inspection, production and government programs.

The session was called by Elmer Beery, Shawano, president of the Wisconsin Cheesemakers association. Officials of the U. S. and state departments of agriculture were present along with cheese industry men in the production, processing and marketing fields.

Housecleaning Matter

"It was a matter of housecleaning," said George L. Mooney, Plymouth, executive secretary of the Wisconsin cheesemakers. He referred to the fact that there have been some differences of opinion recently in regard to grading and inspection.

Beery described the meeting as successful. "Some highly technical problems were ironed out," he said. One reason for closing the meeting to reporters, he said, was to assure "the Washington people" that they could speak freely.

Two men were here from Washington, and four from the state department of agriculture.

All phases of the cheese industry were discussed, according to Mooney.

Unanimous Opinion

"There was unanimity of opinion that Wisconsin dairy products comply with all state and federal standards for free sale of those products in interstate commerce," Mooney declared.

"We were anxious to have the meeting because we feel our responsibility for maintaining Wisconsin's important position in the cheese industry," he added. "We are anxious to lead the parade in quality of product and improvements in merchandising."

"The cheese industry," Beery asserted, "is in a healthy position. As a result of the meeting, we feel we have come to a better understanding of grading problems, the Wisconsin cheese exchange and other matters."

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — If holdup man Russell H. Trebbe, 37, Milwaukee, serves out all his prison sentences, he will be an old man when he gets out of Waupun state prison.

Trebbe was sentenced to terms totalling 50 years by Municipal Judge Donald W. Gleason after he admitted staging a 7-month crime spree in seven Wisconsin counties, which included 25 counts of armed robbery, attempted armed robbery, auto theft and forgery. Judge Gleason imposed the sentences after district attorneys in the other counties agreed to consolidate all charges in Brown county.

The sentences included 17 concurrent terms of 30 years each and four consecutive terms of five years each for Roland Wolff, Neenah, and Mrs. Ronald Peotter, Menasha.

Also included was money taken from Mrs. Hamilton's Kitchen, Appleton, $75, and two holdups at Quaker Dairy stores, Appleton, $245.

Youth, 17, Injured in Truck Crash

Avoids Steering Wheel, Escapes With Broken Ankle

John Theiss, 17, of 301 W. Prospect avenue, escaped with a broken ankle and chest bruises at 2:49 p. m. Friday when the truck he was driving struck a cement abutment at Highway 41 and Meade street.

Theiss told county police he slipped to the right of the truck cab just before the impact to avoid the steering wheel as it was pushed into the front seat cushion.

Brakes of the truck, owned by Excavator Carl Krause, failed as he approached the 41 intersection along Meade street from the south, the driver said. He took the ditch to avoid a car and truck which were stopped for 41 traffic, Theiss reported.

The truck careened out of control for 57 feet, but stayed upright in slamming the abutment and shearing off a road sign, county police said. Damage was estimated at about $1,000.

Theiss, pinned in the cab, was removed by passersby and taken to St. Elizabeth hospital by his father, George, who happened by.

The youth, a 2-letter winner in football at St. Mary High school, Menasha, will be lost to the Zephyrs for the coming season, his mother said. She reported him in robberies, a 15-year sentence for attempted robbery and 10-year sentences for two check forgeries. Trebbe still has 21 years and seven months of another robbery term to serve. He was paroled last winter.

Trebbe said he started his 1-man crime spree because he was unable to find a job to support himself and his two children. He was divorced in 1954 and had not remarried. Nets $6,050.

Trebbe said his crimes netted him $6,050.79. The figure includes $3,350.79 collected by robbery and forgery and a $2,700 car stolen from Sam Malofsky Motor company, Appleton.

Also included was money taken from Mrs. Hamilton's Kitchen, Appleton, $75, and two holdups at Quaker Dairy stores, Appleton, $245.

Trebbe was captured in a high-speed police chase in Green Bay June 25.

New Radar Device to Speed Attack Warning

months from locations within the boundaries of the continental United States."

Could Locate Sites

The newspaper also said: "The system can also determine the location of missile-launching sites and can evaluate the performance of a rocket thousands of miles away. Such information has already yielded important guide lines on the state of the Soviet missile program."

If the detection equipment will spot a missile within seconds or brief minutes from the firing time at a range of more than 5,000 miles, it would appear to be better than the air force's ballistic missile early warning system (BMEWS) now being built in the far north. That conventional although long range radar system is designed to detect missiles at distances of about 2,000 or 3,000 miles after they are well on the way toward target.

The new device carries the name of "high frequency ionospheric back scatter radar."

Finds Ionized Gas

It detects ionized gas, those particles of electrons which appear in temperatures of thousands or millions of degrees after a nuclear explosion or in the exhaust trail of rocket motors on ballistic missiles.

Ordinary radar, like that used in BMEWS and conventional aircraft warning systems, works as does television — in a straight, line-of-sight the beam won't bend around the curve of the earth, so anything below the curve is hidden to the radar's eyes.

But Thaler figured out that with high frequency radar, which behaves somewhat like a radio wave but has the characteristic of returning, he could do this:

Send an impulse up to the blanket of ionized particles which envelops the earth and the top of which is about 250 miles high. The impulse striking the ionosphere then reflects downward at an angle.

It strikes the earth's surface 5,000 miles away, then flashes back instantaneously toward the transmitting point.

Thaler says that what the navy has now is just the bare bones, experimental stuff, not an actual complete system. But he thinks the cost of building an operating system might be "relatively" inexpensive and could be done in a couple of years if all-out effort were made.

It strikes the earth's surface 5,000 miles away, then flashes back instantaneously toward the transmitting point.

Thaler says that what the navy has now is just the bare bones, experimental stuff, not an actual complete system. But he thinks the cost of building an operating system might be "relatively" inexpensive and could be done in a couple of years if all-out effort were made.

It detects ionized gas, those particles of electrons which appear in temperatures of thousands or millions of degrees after a nuclear explosion or in the exhaust trail of rocket motors on ballistic missiles.

Ordinary radar, like that used in BMEWS and conventional aircraft warning systems, works as does television — in a straight, line-of-sight the beam won't bend around the curve of the earth, so anything below the curve is hidden to the radar's eyes.

But Thaler figured out that with high frequency radar, which behaves somewhat like a radio wave but has the characteristic of returning, he could do this:

Send an impulse up to the blanket of ionized particles which envelops the earth and the top of which is about 250 miles high. The impulse striking the ionosphere then reflects downward at an angle.

Paintings by Kaukauna
Girl Shown at Art Center

Neenah — A Kaukauna resident's paintings which won her acclaim at a recent art show here has led to inclusion of her works among an exhibit of three Wisconsin artists at the John Nelson Bergstrom Art Center and Museum through Aug. 23.

Exhibited are paintings by Sarah Brenzel of Kaukauna, Allyn Amundson of Madison and Harold Altman of Milwaukee.

Officials Agree on Cheese Grading

Wisconsin Product Conforms With State, Federal Sales Standards

Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — Top level leaders and officials of the cheese industry met behind closed doors here Friday to discuss issues involved in grading, inspection, production and government programs.

The session was called by Elmer Beery, Shawano, president of the Wisconsin Cheesemakers association. Officials of the U. S. and state departments of agriculture were present along with cheese industry men in the production, processing and marketing fields.

Housecleaning Matter
"It was a matter of housecleaning," said George L. Mooney, Plymouth, executive secretary of the Wisconsin cheesemakers. He referred to the fact that there have been some differences of opinion recently in regard to grading and inspection.

Beery described the meeting as successful. "Some highly technical problems were ironed out," he said. One reason for closing the meeting to reporters, he said, was to assure "the Washington people" that they could speak freely.

Two men were here from Washington, and four from the state department of agriculture.

All phases of the cheese industry were discussed, according to Mooney.

Unanimous Opinion
"There was unanimity of opinion that Wisconsin dairy products comply with all state and federal standards for free sale of those products in interstate commerce," Mooney declared.

"We were anxious to have the meeting because we feel our responsibility for maintaining Wisconsin's important position in the cheese industry," he added. "We are anxious to lead the parade in quality of product and improvements in merchandising."

"The cheese industry," Beery asserted, "is in a healthy position. As a result of the meeting, we feel we have come to a better understanding of grading problems, the Wisconsin cheese exchange and other matters."

Green Bay — If holdup man Russell H. Trebbe, 37, Milwaukee, serves out all his prison sentences, he will be an old man when he gets out of Waupun state prison.

Youth, 17, Injured in Truck Crash

Avoids Steering Wheel, Escapes With Broken Ankle

John Theiss, 17, of 301 W. Prospect avenue, escaped with a broken ankle and chest bruises at 2:40 p. m. Friday when the truck he was driving struck a cement abutment at Highway 41 and Meade street.

Theiss told county police he slipped to the right of the truck cab just before the impact to avoid the steering wheel as it was pushed into the front seat cushion.

Brakes of the truck, owned by Excavator Carl Krause, failed as he approached the 41 intersection along Meade street from the south, the driver said. He took the ditch to avoid a car and truck which were stopped for 41 traffic, Theiss reported.

The truck careened out of control for 57 feet, but stayed upright in slamming the abutment and shearing off a road sign, county police said. Damage was estimated at about $1,000.

New Radar Device to Speed Attack Warning

months from locations within the boundaries of the continental United States."

Could Locate Sites

The newspaper also said: "The system can also determine the location of missile-launching sites and can evaluate the performance of a rocket thousands of miles away. Such information has already yielded important guide lines on the state of the Soviet missile program."

If the detection equipment will spot a missile within seconds or brief minutes from the firing time at a range of more than 5,000 miles, it would appear to be better than the air force's ballistic missile early warning system (BMEWS) now being built in the far north. That conventional although long range radar system is designed to detect missiles at distances of about 2,000 or 3,000 miles after they are well on the way toward target.

The new device carries the name of "high frequency ionospheric back scatter radar." It detects ionized gas, those particles of electrons which appear in temperatures of thousands or millions of degrees after a nuclear explosion or in the exhaust trail of rocket motors on ballistic missiles.

Ordinary radar, like that used in BMEWS and conventional aircraft warning systems, works as does television — in a straight, line-of-sight the beam won't bend around the curve of the earth, so anything below the curve is hidden to the radar's eyes.

But Thaler figured out that with high frequency radar, which behaves somewhat like a radio wave but has the characteristic of returning, he could do this:

Send an impulse up to the blanket of ionized particles which envelops the earth and the top of which is about 250 miles high. The impulse striking the ionosphere then reflects downward at an angle. It strikes the earth's surface 5,000 miles away, then flashes back instantaneously toward the transmitting point.

If there is an ionized gas along the path (the column in the trail of a missile's rocket engines or the mass produced in connection with nuclear explosion), it registers on instruments back at the transmitting-receiving point.

Thaler says that what the navy has now is just the bare bones, experimental stuff, not an actual complete system. But he thinks the cost of building an operating system might be "relatively" inexpensive and could be done in a couple of years if all-out effort were made.

Kaukauna Man Found Dead

Nicholas Marsol, 69, was found dead of natural causes about 2:50 p. m. Friday in his room above Elsie and Herman's tavern, 401 W. Tenth street, Kaukauna.

Coroner Bernard H. Kemps said the body was discovered by Carl R. Kleohn, 39, of 317 W. Tenth street, Kaukauna, a mailman, who went, looking for the man when the bar was unattended.

Marsol was born March 1, 1890 in Italy and came to this country at 14. He died of a cardiac seizure, Kemps said. There are no known survivors.

Friends may call after 2 p. m. Sunday at the Greenwood funeral home, Kaukauna. Funeral services will be at 9 a. m. Monday at St. Mary Catholic church, Kaukauna. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Paintings by Kaukauna
Girl Shown at Art Center

Neenah — A Kaukauna resident's paintings which won her acclaim at a recent art show here has led to inclusion of her works among an exhibit of three Wisconsin artists at the John Nelson Bergstrom Art Center and Museum through Aug. 23.

Exhibited are paintings by Sarah Brenzel of Kaukauna, Allyn Amundson of Madison and Harold Altman of Milwaukee.

Altman is originally from New York city but has been an assistant professor of art at the University of Wisconsin — Milwaukee, for the last few years. Known primarily for his pen and ink drawings, Altman is equally successful in his mastery of the printmakers art.

Oshkosh — The Neenah-Menasha girls softball team trimmed the Cliffettes of Oshkosh, 10-2, in its initial state tournament game here Friday night.

The N-M squad was to play Kaukauna this afternoon in its second start. A victory would bring it back Saturday night to face the Manitowish-Wau Claire winner. A loss wouldn't eliminate it either, since the meet is a double elimination affair.

The winners scored three runs in the first inning, added four in the second and never were in trouble. Oshkosh was blanked until the fifth when it scored once. It got the second run in the sixth.

Neenah — Menasha closed with two markers in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Shirley Palesh halted the Cliffettes on six hits. She walked three and struck out eight. The winners made 11 safeties off Arlene Fritz, who didn't have any walks or strikeouts.

Oshkosh got its first two hitters on base in the first and second innings but failed to score.

Pitcher Homer

The winners got their three in the first on three hits, an error, a fly ball and an interference play. The longest blow of the game came in the second when Shirley Palesh belted a 3-run inside-the-park homer.

Sandy Lornson had four hits for the N-M girls and Shirley Palesh, Joan Keifer and Rita Merkel all made two. Jean Vieth had two for Oshkosh.

Ageless Wonder Legendary LeRoy 'Satchel' Paige And Troupe to Meet Menasha Macs

Menasha — The legendary LeRoy "Satchel" Paige, one of the most-discussed figures in baseball annals, will be in town Wednesday night to send his Havana Cuban All-Stars against the Menasha Macs.

The 8 p.m. encounter will be preceded by a 7 p.m. test between All-Star teams from the Menasha Junior league in the summer baseball program.

Paige, whose age is estimated at anywhere between 50 and 60, may never be recorded as one of the top-flight major league pitchers of all-time; but if stamina is a criterion he would be eagerly greeted at the Hall of Fame door.

28-31 in Majors

Paige, who was over 40 — or 50, when brought up to the majors in 1948, posted a 28-31 record for five year's work, three with the usually hapless St. Louis Browns.

He had been barnstorming with teams in the Negro league for years but it wasn't until two years after Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier that the ageless wonder got his big opportunity.

Paige, whose "hesitation pitch" sent umpires and league officials scurrying to their rule books, began his big league career with the Cleveland Indians and had a 6-1 record the first year. He was 4-7 in 1949.

12-10 With Browns

The righthander stayed out of organized baseball in 1950, but returned in '51 with the last-place St. Louis Browns and posted 3-4. The following year he was 12-10 and was regarded as one of the finest relief pitchers in the American league.

His final major league year — 1953 — saw Paige slip to 3-9 with the Browns. After again taking it easy in 1954 and 1955, he joined the Miami Marlins three years ago. His old-time mastery returned and he fashioned an 11-4 record with a sparkling 1.87 earned run average. In 1957, he was 10-8 with a 2-42 earned run mark plus 79 strikeouts and 28 walks.

Proud of Hitting

Paige, who always took pride in his hitting, carries a lifetime batting mark of better than .300. He was also well-known for his easy-going nature, so much so that while with the Browns, Bill Veckler bought him a white contour chair in which to recline while in the bull pen.

In his younger days, one of Paige's favorite tricks was to allow a couple of men to reach base, then call his outfield into the dugout and proceed to strike out the next three hitters with just the inside field backing him up. His record for strikeouts was chalked up in 1936 when he whiffed 22 Hartford, Conn., swingers.

"Satch" has even ventured into theatricals, recently completing a movie with Robert Mitchum, Julie London and Jack Oakie. The film, "Wonderful Country," is to be released this month.

Tickets for Wednesday's contest are available at Krueger's in Neenah and the Menasha Sport Shop.

A 4-run third at the expense of starter Jerry Walker, in which "Minnie" Mino-so, Tito Francona, "Rocky" Colavito, Jim Baxes, Score and Jimmy Piersall hit singles, turned the tide for Cleveland.

Billy Goodman supported "Buck" Shaw's 8-hit pitching with three run-producing singles in the White Sox victory over Washington. Goodman scored the fourth run to take part in all of Chicago's runs. Shaw, who lost his shutout in the eighth, won his eleventh game in 14 decisions, his fifth in a row. "Whitey" Ford, recovered from a sore elbow, pitched his first victory since July 19 although he needed help from Ryne Duran.

Fans Ten

The Yankee showpaw struck out ten and allowed only five singles before giving way to Duran with two out and two on in the eighth. Duran halted the Athletics' threat and fanned the side in the ninth to preserve Ford's eleventh triumph against six defeats. "Bud" Daley was the loser, giving up home runs to Hank Bauer and "Yogi" Berra. The Yankee catcher needs only one more to enter the exclusive 300 homer club.

Gary Geiger raced home with Boston's winning run on a wild pitch by Detroit's Ray Narleski in the eighth. Geiger earlier had driven in two Red Sox runs with a double. Bill Monbouquette won his fourth game for the Red Sox but he needed help from left fielder Gene Stephens who contributed two running catches and threw a runner out at the plate. Stephens also doubled and singled.

tourney participant. Winner of its Friday opener, LC-K is scheduled to play again this afternoon at County stadium. If the Papermakers win this one, they will be unable to keep their Sunday FRVL date against Menasha's Macs.

If LC-K is eliminated from the tournament today, it is scheduled to play host to Menasha at Little Chute Sunday afternoon. The game, if played, will be the feature of the second round to date, since the Macs are the only other unbeaten club.

Average Losses

By whipping Kaukauna and Freedom in two of their second round outings, the Macs already have avenged a pair of first-half defeats. The other initial round loss was to the Little Chute-Kimberly entry.

The first round champion Papermakers copped both of the previous two meetings, winning, 8-6, in the initial test and 16-2 in the Clintonville tournament.

Entertains Chiefs

Third place Freedom attempts to remain in title contention when it entertains Manitowoc Sunday afternoon. Other contests send Appleton to Harrison and Reedsville to Kaukauna. Oshkosh gets the bye.

Freedom was knocked out of the unbeaten class by the Macs last week but it still has to play Little Chute-Kimberly and can't be counted out of title consideration yet. Manitowoc fell below the .500 mark Wednesday night when it absorbed an 11-6 shellacking at the hands of Oshkosh. The first game went to Freedom by a 7-0 score, behind Mike VandenHeuvel.

Kaukauna and Appleton will attempt to keep Reedsville and Harrison, respectively, in the winless category with repeat victories. The first time around the Klubbbers trounced Reedsville, 25-8, and Appleton rolled over Harrison, 20-2.

Ortega Cops Decision Over 'Kid' Paret

New York —A Gaspar Ortega, the long and lanky Indian from Mexicali, Mexico, had a decision over Benny "Kid" Paret on his record today, but he probably wasn't too proud of it.

The fifth-ranking welterweight contender got the votes of Judges Mike Parisi and Tommy Dolan in the 10-round main event at Madison Square garden Friday night. But Referee Teddy Martin gave his nod to the unranked Paret, a stocky, muscular brawler from Santa Clara, Cuba. The bruising battle could have been called either way. The Associated Press card had it a draw. Martin had Paret in front, six rounds to four, Parisi had Ortega winning, six to four, and Dolan voted for the Mexican, five to four with one round even.

Dick Wilson Gains Net Semi-Finals

La Crosse —A Top seeded players in the junior divisions came through with two victories each Friday and advanced to today's semi-finals of the Western Wisconsin open tennis tournament. They are Dick Wilson, Neenah; Dean Eisner, Manitowoc; Katie Meyer, Nashotah, and Jane Ewens, Milwaukee. Play in the adult divisions starts today with finals set for Sunday.

Bruckbauer's 3-Hitter Gives Foxes Sweep

walk that put the Foxes ahead to stay.

Shortstop Nate Oliver's second sacrifice fly scored the insurance run.

The Foxes bunched four walks, a sacrifice fly and an infield out for their first pair of runs in the second.

Topeka nicked Bruckbauer for one in the third on Rosell's single, Beall's walk, a sacrifice bunt and Jim Pasilla's sacrifice fly. The Reds tied the score in the third as Bob Klaus walked, took second on Tanner's safe bunt, moved up on a sacrifice and beat Oliver's throw to the plate on a grounder.

Settles Down

Mallory, whose early luck was better than his control, yielded eight walks in the first three innings—yet was tagged for only two runs. After that, he settled down to duel Bruckbauer on even terms until the seventh.

Bruckbauer had fewer base runners to cope with but was pulled out of a particularly dangerous situation by Oliver in the seventh. The Foxes' new shortstop—on lend-lease from Green Bay and the Dodgers—flagged down an almost certain hit in "Zorro" Versailles—like fashion behind second with two on and started a side-retiring force play.

The Foxes' All-Star game pitcher, Bert Guenther, is being sent to Washington for treatment. He came up with a sore shoulder last Saturday at Lincoln, and it has not responded to treatment.

Pete Cooper Maintains Lead In Cleveland Open on 134

Cleveland —A Goldom's gay young blades have been fired a 67, 4 under par for the giving old man par a beating in the first two rounds of the $25,000 Cleveland open, but they haven't been able to do much with old man Cooper.

The latter is Pete Cooper, 44-year-old recent operator of a pitch-and-putt course in Lakeland, Fla. With the 4-day, 72-hole medal play going into the second half today, Cooper still was keeping out in front.

There were 27 subpar rounds fired, but "Old Pete" was still out in front by a stroke. Harney, Littler and Souchak were deadlocked for second with 135.

Cooper merely duplicated his opening 67 and was all alone at 134. Fernier slipped to 71 for 138, two back of 26-year-old Sanders and tied with Bob Goolby, 28, of Crystal River, Fla. and Bert Weaver, 27, of Beaumont, Texas.

Lawrence Says

Ike Appeals to Americans for Labor Reform

Hits Union Tactics Which Infringe on People's Rights

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — President Eisenhower has made an extraordinary appeal to the American people to persuade congress to enact at once legislation that will stop the abuses practiced by labor-union racketeers.

The president, in his television and radio address, said that the time for the passage of new laws is long overdue. He was careful to point out that he is not asking for anything which would harm legitimate unions or honest labor leaders but for laws that would affect solely those individuals who were engaging in what ought to be legally defined as criminal behavior.

Eisenhower made his illustrations simple and direct. He described blackmail picketing, when plant workers haven't decided whether they want to be represented by a union or don't want to join a particular union.

Secondary Boycott The president, moreover, explained to the American people what a secondary boycott really is. Up to now, the term has been regarded generally as part of the boycott process. Actually, it means that companies which buy from or sell to another business are themselves picketed or threatened with injury unless they join in a boycott of the firm with which the union has the original dispute. The other businesses are only innocent third parties, but they are damaged nevertheless by the secondary boycott tactics.

A third abuse is the so-called no-man's-land, in which neither the states nor the federal government have been exercising authority over disputes between workers and employers in small businesses. The president favors a specific statement in federal the people of America, in prilaw that the states shall have authority over such matters. Eisenhower is well aware that a sensational drive is underway on Capitol Hill to kill all legislation dealing with labor-union reform. The extremists are working skillfully to put so many amendments into a measure as to make it unacceptable to either side.

Politically Active But the president is hopeful that the American people will not be deceived by such tactics. It is true that, as a political campaign approaches, the big unions make lists of congressmen and senators who, they tell the voters, are ready to do their bidding on labor-union matters. The union leaders arrange for generous contributions to the campaign funds of those candidates. Likewise, they battle vigorously against those members of congress who do not obey their demands.

Under the circumstances, with rumors current that labor unions feel they can count on a majority in congress to refuse to pass any bills at this session which are opposed by the unions, there was every reason why the president should tell us the facts as he sees them.

Eisenhower says that there is a lot of talk about a weak bill or a strong bill, but that he is interested only in an effective piece of legislation and one that will not hurt the collective-bargaining process or honest union leaders. But he points out that some of the bills sponsored by labor unions today would actually relieve 70 per cent of the unions from reporting on their finances.

Eliminate Penalties He declares also that some of the pending measures would eliminate criminal penalties designed to punish the type of abuses uncovered by the recent investigation so courageously carried on by Sen. McClellan, Democrat, of Arkansas, and his investigating committee.

The president feels that "labor reform is not a partisan matter." He himself approaches the problem in a politically disinterested way as he says:

"I am not a candidate for office. I do not seek the support of any special interests. I am only trying to make sure American workers and the American public get the kind of protection that Americans deserve."

"Nearly one hundred years ago Abraham Lincoln spoke of the sacrifices made so that the government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

"In our lives and actions, specific statement in federal the people of America, in private and public sectors, daily face millions of choices with this continuing question always in the background.

People Must Govern

"As the congress prepares to vote on labor reform, this great question is still and always with us. In the basic sense, the real issue is: shall the people govern? If they do not, crooks and racketeers could prevail."

"Americans want reform" legislation which will be truly effective."

This is a milestone in the history of the labor-management controversy in America. Never before has the president spoken as plainly or as forcefully in behalf of the whole people against special groups who arrogate to themselves power over their fellow citizens.
